

AMERICAN REPARATIONS ATTITUDE FAST APPROACHING SHOWDOWN

Harvey Ordered Home for Consultation—Harding Believed Ready to Authorize Bankers to Make Huge Loan to Germans if Allies Scale Down Indemnity—Will Also Say War Debts Can't be Cancelled.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Dec. 15.—A final showdown in which America's voice is bound to play an important part, is imminent in the long standing reparations controversy that has kept Europe almost constantly embroiled for four years.

The exact part which the United States will play in the settlement is yet to be determined. It has formed the chief subject of cabinet discussion for several weeks and was uppermost in the minds of President Harding and his cabinet when they met again today.

It is unlikely, however, that any definite line of American procedure will be determined until Col. George Harvey, American ambassador to Great Britain, arrives in Washington, the last of this month, fresh from conferences with the Allied premiers. How graciously the president and his advisers regard the situation, in the light of recent developments, may be drawn from the fact that Col. Harvey has been summoned to return home for the first time since he went abroad.

President Harding is being urged to make a clear cut statement of America's position toward the reparations problem, and the question of international war debts. Such a statement, some of his cabinet advisers believe, would have the effect of clarifying the issues and would afford the basis upon which a fresh start could be made toward getting order out of the chaos that now exists abroad.

Such a pronouncement of American policy probably would include:

- 1.—The United States regards the question of reparations, and international war debts as distinctly separate propositions as far as this country is concerned.

- 2.—Not being a recipient of German reparations, the United States is interested in the question only in so far as it affects the welfare of Europe.
- 3.—The United States, however, does consider that reparations should be scaled down to a point where Germany can pay and still keep her head above the economic waters that now threaten to engulf her.

- 4.—The United States would look with distinct disfavor upon military occupation of the Ruhr by France.
- 5.—Should reparations be scaled down commensurately with Germany's ability to pay, the American government would be disposed to look favorably upon the participation of private American banking interests in a gigantic loan to Germany to stabilize the mark and enable Germany to get on her feet.

- 6.—The American government itself will not participate in an joint international loan to Germany, considering that $11,000,000,000 in United States government funds are now "frozen" in Europe with no country except Great Britain making any real effort to pay.

- 7.—The United States will not and cannot consider any proposition looking to general cancellation of war debts, but is willing to consider liberal terms by which Europe can discharge her obligation to the United States and at the same time rehabilitate herself economically.

Those are the principal tenets of the American position as revealed in official quarters to International News Service.

The projected international loan of $15,000,000,000 to private bankers, has been discussed by J. Pierpont Morgan and Secretary of State Hughes and there is reason to believe they are substantially in accord that American bankers shall not participate in any loan unless reparations are toned down to a point where Germany can pay.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover took a report to the cabinet today that Germany's plight is desperate; that actual starvation faces the German nation unless something is done to restore the mark to some fractional part of its old purchasing power.

Germany lacks 25 per cent of raising enough food for domestic consumption. Owing to the worthlessness of the mark in other countries, Germany shortly will not be able to finance even food purchases abroad, which means short rations for a nation that is trying to get back to its feet industrially.

London, Dec. 15.—Secretary Hughes has summoned George Harvey, American ambassador to England, home to discuss European affairs, it was announced at the U. S. embassy today.

MRS. NETTER'S ACTION IN COURT

Seek Damages For $600 Because Of Squire's Failure To Sell House To Her When Deal Was Practically Closed—Later Sold To Shadr.

When supreme court convened this morning at 10 o'clock the action brought by Mrs. Anna V. Netter of this city against David W. Squire of White Plains was taken up. The action is for specific performance of contract, plaintiff claiming that defendant who owned a house on East Chester street agreed to sell it to her and that after she had arranged for the purchase and had a search of the title completed, defendant refused to sell the property claiming that his wife refused to sign the deed.

Mr. Squire who resided in this city until about 12 years ago owned a house on East Chester street which he offered for sale. The price asked was $4,000 time payments or $3,700 cash. No contract was entered into in writing but several letters and personal interviews were had and defendant wrote plaintiff to have a deed drawn up so that when he came to Kingston everything would be ready for the signatures. This was done and after the transaction had gone on for a time and was about to be completed Mr. Squire wrote to Mrs. Netter stating that the deal was off as his wife refused to sign the deed.

The property was later sold to Virgil Shadr, who had been a tenant in the house for a number of years. Mrs. Netter now brings an action to recover damages to the amount of $600 for failure to perform the contract.

Several letters between the two parties and H. H. Flemming, who was acting as attorney for both parties, were introduced in court. The price agreed upon was $3,500, a portion of which was to be paid in cash and the remainder bond and mortgage. The exact terms of the sale were not specified, but in the correspondence it was stated that at least $500 in cash would be paid. This amount was later increased when defendant demanded $1,000 cash and 6 per cent interest on the mortgage instead of 5 per cent as mentioned in one of the letters. To this plaintiff agreed, leaving the exact terms to be determined when plaintiff and defendant met in town for the final drawing up of the papers.

H. H. Flemming with Judge Gill appeared for plaintiff and Mr. Holden, of Holden & Cavanaugh, with Judge Groves appeared for defendant.

No other cases will be taken up today and the jurors not engaged on the present case were excused until Monday at 2 o'clock.

CHRISTMAS TREES NOW IN MARKET

Estimated That 2,500 Trees Are Sold Every Season in Kingston—Prices This Year Same As Last—Tree Range In Price From 50 Cents Up.

Christmas trees are now in the market and householders are picking out their trees while the stock is still large and before the best have been sold. The price this year is about the same as last Christmas and trees range in price from 50 cents up.

It is estimated by the dealers here that every season fully 2,500 Christmas trees are sold in Kingston. This would indicate that fully half of the families of the city have trees for the kiddies on Christmas.

The price of the tree depends on its size and shape. The cheapest trees are selling for half a dollar and the better trees for from $1 to $2. Those who contemplate having a tree this year should arrange to pick one out early.

CAR DRIVEN BY KROM DESTROYED BY FIRE

A Franklin town car in charge of Asa Krom of 78 North Front street caught fire about 11 o'clock Thursday night on the Kingston-Elleville road near the Sidney Myer farm in Marbletown and was completely wrecked by the flames. Mr. Krom went to Schip's hotel a short distance away and telephoned for a taxi to bring him home. It is said the Franklin was owned by William D. Ryan of Main street.

SALE OF SUBSTITUTES IS ORDERED HERE TO CONSERVE ANTHRACITE

Orders for Hard Coal Limited to Half Ton—Deliveries Above That Weight Must Consist of 25 Per Cent Soft Coal, Coke, Cannel or Buckwheat Coal.

TO ALL COAL DEALERS AND TO ALL CONSUMERS OF COAL IN ULSTER COUNTY:

The coal situation in Ulster County is acute, although at present there is no reason to be unduly alarmed. It can be controlled with proper regulation as to deliveries and the use of substitutes. The co-operation of the consumer and the coal dealer is earnestly desired.

It has come to my notice that there are some distressing cases, where aged people; children and the sick are suffering from lack of fuel. Such cases should have first attention.

There undoubtedly will not be enough grate, egg, stove, chestnut, range and pea coal to meet the needs of the consumer in this county and particularly so when the real cold winter weather arrives.

Therefore, it is necessary that substitutes such as buckwheat coal, soft coal, cannel coal; and coke should be used in connection with the above named sizes of grate, egg, stove, chestnut, range and pea coal. Under these conditions, it makes it necessary to issue the following order:

It is directed that no dealer or distributor within the confines of Ulster county shall deliver a greater quantity than one-half ton of grate, egg, stove, chestnut, range or pea coal, unless such delivery shall consist of at least 25% of substitute sizes known as buckwheat coal, soft coal, cannel coal or coke, for any one household or other consumer of such sizes.

For example: An order for one ton of coal shall consist of three-quarters of a ton of any one of the sizes known as grate, egg, stove, chestnut, range and pea, and at least one-quarter ton of buckwheat, soft or cannel coal, as desired.

This office will undertake to assist dealers and distributors by checking up orders for coal filed with them and advising in regard to deliveries on such orders.

Public and office buildings, churches and householders, with steam and hot air furnaces can and should use a larger percentage of substitutes than 25%, and where it is possible for this to be done I urge that such consumers use as much of the substitutes over 25% as it is possible for them to use, so that the supply of domestic sizes of anthracite coal can be conserved for the householders who cannot use substitutes.

Co-operation on the part of the consumer, the dealer and the distributor will reduce the actual hardships this winter to the minimum.

SEALS AT POST OFFICE SATURDAY

Beginning tomorrow the Tuberculosis Christmas Seals will be on sale at all of the Kingston post offices. Mrs. W. C. Miller and Mrs. John Reynolds will be in charge of the up-town office; Miss Tess Drophy of the Central post office, and Mrs. Rice of the Rondout post office. This does not mean that seals can no longer be purchased of the canvassers of the various wards. While some have already sold all of their seals and had a second supply others still have some on hand, so those who have not yet purchased their seals may do so where it will be most convenient to them. The sale is going splendidly.

She will install her own engineers (mining technicians) and customs officials, but will reserve places for the British engineers and officials if they will join later."

Mr. Weber is employed at the West Shore round house in the north yard. While walking along Albany avenue near the city line, it is said he became confused by the rays from the headlights of the automobile and was struck and knocked down. Mr. Fromer picked him up, rushed him to the hospital and then reported the accident to the police department.

MOONSHINE GANG LEADER KILLED

So Is One "Dry" Officer as Battle of Law and Outlaw is Resumed in Kentucky Mountains—Leader's Brother Wounded.

Mount Sterling, Ky., Dec. 15.—Hostilities were resumed in the mountains of Menifee county today between the moonshiners and prohibition enforcement officers. Bob Ballard, said to be leader of the outlaw gang which has been defying government agents, was shot and killed instantly and his brother, Charles Ballard, severely wounded. Guy Cole, "dry" agent of Bowling Green, was also killed.

Today's casualties brings the total dead to four: Robert E. Duff and Dave Treadway, government agents, having been killed in raids on the Ballards last Saturday and Sunday. Sam Collins, state prohibition director, is said to be rushing reinforcements to the raiding party, which numbered 20 agents.

Governor Edwin P. Morrow had offered a reward for the arrest of each of the Ballards and Captain U. G. McFarland, who led Sunday's raid, has declared he would take these outlaws "dead or alive."

PARLIAMENT ENDS IN DISSENSION

Laborites' Protest Ignored—King Stresses Necessity For Maintenance of Accord Among Allies—Hope For Free State Peace.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, Dec. 15.—Parliament was prorogued today with a speech from the throne in which King George uttered "an earnest prayer" that the creating of the Irish Free State may bring prosperity and concord to both Ireland and Britain. He expressed the hope that the Near East peace conference would succeed and said that economic conditions in Europe were giving him grave concern. The king did not appear in person; his speech was read.

Laborite members of Commons threatened hostile demonstrations because parliament was prorogued before measures were taken for relief of the unemployed over the winter. George Lansbury, a Laborite member of Commons, made formal protest against closing the session, but his protests were rejected.

"I have given my assent to measures for final enactment of a constitution for the Irish Free State," said the king. "It is my earnest prayer that the passing of these measures may mark the inauguration of a period of prosperity and concord both for Ireland and Britain."

King George said that "his ministers will continue to examine with great care all possible measures dealing with unemployment." He continued:

"Agriculture and industry are passing through a period of depression. My ministers are investigating in hope that means be found to alleviate some of the difficulties confronting the farmers and the laboring people."

After outlining some of the domestic measures passed, the king went on:

"I earnestly trust that a satisfactory solution will be reached by the nations now in conference at Lausanne."

King George expressed satisfaction that the Allied powers are considering reparations, saying that "the task of restoring favorable conditions and economic stability in Europe continues to give me great concern."

"The difficulties are great," declared the king. "They are complex and can be overcome only by patience and sincere cooperation between the nations primarily affected."

On account of the possibility of a hostile demonstration by the unemployed, Parliament Building was strongly guarded by police and plain clothes detectives.

CITY'S WATER SUPPLY IS LOW

Cooper's Lake Three Feet Below Normal—Water Board Does Not Think There Will be a Water Famine if Care is Used in Conserving Supply.

Kingston's water supply is considerably below normal and at the present time Cooper's Lake is three feet below the normal. Superintendent Harrison stated this afternoon, however, that he did not believe there would be an actual shortage of water here if care was used in conserving the supply. He called attention to the fact that all over the country a diminished supply of water is reported.

While the weather remains moderate there is not expected to be as much waste of water as during zero weather when many householders allow the faucets to run continuously to prevent freezing. The employees of the water board have been busy getting the city's fire hydrants in shape for the winter. They found several frozen and were forced to thaw them out. Today all of the hydrants are in first class working order, according to Superintendent Harrison.

FINDS STATE LEADS IN LABORATORY RESEARCH

Albany, Dec. 15.—New York state leads this country and the world in the standardization of laboratory work from the public health point of view. This is the opinion of Dr. Augustus B. The Fine Art of Conversation.

Quite often people who are willing to spend years in the perfection of other arts are loth to devote a little time daily to the interchange of good conversation. Practice three times a day, a few minutes at a time during breakfast, luncheon and dinner, will enable the shyest boy or girl to become a ready conversationalist.

Table talk need not be brilliant, but it must be agreeable. Impassioned arguments, malicious gossip, shop talk, housekeeping troubles, details of hospital operations or dental services—these and kindred topics are not social subjects. Young people should be encouraged to report at the dinner table any pleasant incident of the day or to invite comment upon books, music, pictures, etc. Good stories—brief and well told—may be repeated at dessert time. What is essential is to acquire the habit of ready conversation.

The Great Continental Lines.

The completion of the first railway which made it possible to go by rail from the Atlantic to the Pacific was celebrated May 10, 1869, when a gold spike was driven in commemoration of the joining of the Central Pacific and Union Pacific railroads at Promontory, Utah. The scene was commemorated by Bret Harte in a poem and preserved for the admiration of the future by a massive painting, which was reproduced in an engraving which had wide popularity. The similar last spike of the Northern Pacific was driven September 8, 1883, near the mouth of Gold creek in Montana. On the earliest road the first through car from the Pacific reached New York July 24, 1870.

GIFTS WILL GAIN FREE ADMISSION

They Must Be For Industrial Home. Presented by Children Under 14. At Local Theatres Saturday.

The benefit performances at the Keeney Theatre and the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium on Saturday afternoon for children who are willing to provide gifts for the Industrial Home as the price of their admission give every indication of being the most successful benefits given in Kingston in a long time.

For all children under fourteen years of age, the only admission required at each of the two theatres for the Saturday afternoon performance will be a suitable gift for the Industrial Home and there is a wide range of the character of gifts which may be given. These gifts may include toys, clothing, fruit and other foodstuffs; canned and preserved fruits and vegetables, fresh vegetables and meat, poultry, etc., and whatever else will be serviceable in the Home.

The invitation of Manager George C. Gildersleeve of the Keeney Theatre to the children of the Industrial Home to attend the performances has been accepted, and free transportation to and from the Keeney theatre, which they will attend, will be provided by Manager G. Burton Tebow of the Kingston Consolidated Railroad Company.

The benefit matinees at each theatre will be the same as all other performances of the day at each theatre.

At the Keeney Theatre the feature picture will be Rex Beach's "The Iron Trail," which is a thrilling story of railroad construction in Alaska. The story is filled with wholesome adventure. As an extra the Keeney Theatre will present Larry Seaman in "The Bakery," a comedy picture of fun in a bakery shop.

At the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium the attraction will be Hoot Gibson in "Ridin' Wild," a western picture of adventure, and the Century comedy, "The Radio Hound."

The admission of children under fourteen years to either theatre free of charge on presentation of a suitable gift for the Industrial Home is limited to the afternoon performances.

Never Throw Out Medicines.

Destroy all unmarked medicines, whether liquid or powder. Oxalic acid, a deadly poison, closely resembles Epsom salts. Many powders look identical. You cannot be too careful to label everything legibly and indelibly. Never throw out medicines, Clara D. Noyes, R. N., urges in the Health Builder. Destroy them past all danger of their harming children or animals. Every one of us can probably call to mind so many tragedies resulting from violation of this rule, in which children have taken deadly drugs found in waste basket, ashcan or rubbish pile, that it is scarcely necessary to point out the reason for the caution, while many household pets have come to untimely ends in the same way.

Recipe for a Happy Life.

Three ounces are necessary, first of patience, then of repose and peace; of conscience a pound entire is needed; of pastimes of all sorts, too, should be gathered as much as the hand can hold; of pleasant memory and of hope three good drachms there must be at least. But they should be moltened with a liquor made from true pleasures which rejoice the heart. Then of love's magic drops, a few—but use them sparingly, for they may bring a dame which naught but tears can drown. Grind the whole and mix therewith of merriment an ounce to even. Yet all this may not bring happiness except in your own souls you lift your voice to Him who holds the gift of health.—Margaret, Queen of Navarre.

Can't I leave her? No, I can't, for she won't let me go. She pulled me on her tender feet, 'cause her old ones hurt her so. She says she wouldn't part with me for no amount of money. She's happy now as any queen, eatin' bread and honey. She's got her old shoes hanging out to scare the crows away. There's been no crows in her back yard for many and many a day. She's glad she found me when she did, ere it was too late. Her cup of joy runs over, for she's found her soles mate. Now all good folks with tender feet, don't suffer any more, Go buy the Cantilever, found at E. T. Stelle's shoe store.

FUR AS TRIMMING

Bands of Furry Add to Attraction of the Wrap.

Winning Decoration for the Winter Coat May Be Made at Slight Expenditure.

Fur is the accepted trimming for the longer coats, says a fashion writer in the New York Times. By using this for a trimming you can have the most luxurious sort of a wrap with the slightest expenditure of money. If you were to have a fur wrap of this distinction, this width and this length, you would find yourself involved with hundreds—no thousands—of dollars. But you can have a cloth wrap with the wide bands of fur trimming and the price will not be too startling for a winter costume.

There is one very economical way of cutting up an old fur coat and using it for trimming on a newer one. You may have a short one or a three-quarter length coat which would never do to be worn as it is, but which could be cut up advantageously for the trimming of a woolen coat made to accompany some very smart frock or a series of fashionable dresses.

There is the coat made on strictly straight lines. Its material is a light bluish mauve broadcloth suited to the lines of this particular coat in an admirable manner. In the front there is a flat panel and the belt around the sides and back is made of some composition material in a deep purple, touched with spots of green. The fur is black—a deep, rich seal, and the wide collar repeats the design of the straight cuffs as well as the band at the end of the long panel in front.

A band of the fur is added about a draped turban of the same material, and the coat with its hat makes an arrangement of which any woman could be justly proud. The color of the coat is not by any means too light and airy. It is a deep tone of mauve that almost verges upon gray, and the contrast of that soft and exquisite shade against the thick black fur is something that makes the loveliest sort of a winter effect. At the same time the youthfulness and charm of the light color and the soft material are kept intact.

A three-quarter coat with a cape is made of one of the homespun tweed materials that are so soft and thick and so extraordinarily warm. Its color is gray with a band of blue running through it, lined with a soft blue satin that repeats the tone of the wool crepe dress worn with it. The cape is lined with the same tone of blue and the effect of the costume is excellent.

Gay Linings for Fur Coats.
Linings to the new fur coats are a revelation of the wonderful work that is being done in the silk industry. There are linings of matelasse, of heavy silks brocaded in metal, heavy silks bordered in beautiful color tones that glitter with metal, moiré metallic fabrics, metallic cloths, silver laces, all-over prints showing Byzantine tracery, and Persian designs. Among the velvets, those printed in Eastern designs, stand out along with lovely chiffon-velvets in Paisley patterns interwoven with gold and silver threads.

New Shape in Furs.
Among the novelties in dress accessories are the square fans of painted silk, mounted on tortoise-shell frames. These are big, the square measuring between eighteen inches.

Maizeure hats, shoes, perfume, mirrors, fountain pens, compact, stationery, and a number of other Christmas gifts.

NECKTIE DATES FROM 1660

Was Introduced Into France by a Regiment of Cravates—Fashion Sometimes Became Extreme.

The neck was left unconfining by the ancients. The earliest form of necktie was a simple cord worn around a starched band of linen attached to the shirt. The modern tie was introduced in 1690 by a regiment of Cravates which came to France. A bandage of silk or muslin was worn about the neck of the officers, while the soldiers wore simpler stuff. The ends which fell over the breast were disposed in bows or hung in tassels.

After the Revolution cravats disappeared along with tight breeches. In 1796 it recovered its popularity, and was increased to a degree of extravagance. Huge pieces of muslin were worn around the neck by some persons, while others wore a padded cushion of numerous folds. The collar worn at this time arose about the ears, and the mouth and chin were buried nose-deep by the upper edge of the cravat. The neck was puffed out larger than the head.

Effects of Stimulants.
New and curious experiments have been made on the action which alcohol and tea may exercise on the intellectual faculties.

It has been demonstrated that alcohol diminishes the ideas but reinforces the association of words. Under its influence one easily learns a speech by heart, but the work of the thought seeking to join the ideas is difficult.

People who absorb alcohol imagine that they walk with the greatest ease, when, in reality, their muscular force is subject to sensible reduction.

Tea, on the contrary, impedes the auditory association of words, but favors the ideas and intellectual work. The experiments in question have also been made on coffee which produces a certain excitement, but it is not known whether the depression following this excitation weakens the cerebral value.

Mine Mules Retain Sight.
The mule of the coal mine spends years of his life in darkness underground, yet in spite of disease and unlike other animals, he does not lose his eyesight. So veterinarians in the anthracite region have determined. With this announcement the veterinarians exploded a theory held by many for years—that because he did not have any use for his eyes, the mule lost his sight. The coal mine mule usually begins life like any common farm mule. Once he becomes a mine worker, however, things change. He is sent far underground into the dark workings of the hard coal mines, and there he stays, often for the remainder of his life. Being a hardy animal, he sometimes remains in the mines for 20 years without seeing daylight.

Sectional Bookcases

Experience is a great teacher, but the knowledge and information, and the experience and wisdom of others, that can be gained thru a good library are infinitely greater.

A few sections filled with carefully selected books will place at your elbow more knowledge than one can hope to acquire through a lifetime of experience. And as your books increase sections can be added.

Globe-Wernicke Sectional Bookcases contain only the best features in sectional construction—fitted with recessed glass doors, felt strips to keep out dust and all substantially made and beautifully finished to match surroundings.

Human Bones Decorate Church.

Thousands of skulls and other human bones have been used for the extraordinary decoration of a church at Sedlice, in Bohemia. Sedlice is and has always been a small place, but a large number of skeletons were available, one reason being that Bishop Henry, during the Thirteenth century, brought back soil from Golgotha and scattered it about the graveyard. This induced people from far and near to bring the bodies of their friends for burial. In 1518 Bohemia was visited by the plague, and about 30,000 persons perished, while enormous numbers fell in the Hussite wars. The congregation in this cemetery became so great that the bones of the dead were dug up and piled into vast heaps. Finally, in 1570, a blind man sorted all these bones, and the decoration was carried out.

BORROWED FROM THE FRENCH

Word "Hello" an English Corruption Which America Has Adopted as Own Expression.

You should try to learn the old wolf hunter's call, because you know the wolf is a scout and that should be the scout call, says Dan Beard, in Boy's Life.

This call was used in France first and afterward in England, but there are no wolves in England now and the bugle call has been forgotten in both countries, therefore we "paint it green and call it our own." Even though William Tell and Robin Hood bugled the same calls before America was discovered, we can make it American the same as we have made the old French wolf hunter's cry American. French was spoken in English court circles, so the French word loup means the French cry of hab le loup or a' loup loup, loup being pronounced loo, the cry being a la loo; the English put on the H and made it halloo, and we made it hello, which is an American expression, as all the telephone girls know.

So the old wolf hunter's bugle calls which came here with the Huguenots will also be American when blown through a wooden flauto's trumpet.

Old-Time Wedding Custom.

In Tudor times women went bareheaded to be married, with bagpipes and oddlers before them, and they entered the church by the great door only. In some places they carried wheat sheaves on their heads and corn was cast in their faces, with shouts of " plenty plenty!"

BUS COMMITTEE MET THURSDAY

Common Council Committee Meets With Bus Owners To Discuss Provisions Of Proposed New Ordinance—What Bus Owners Desire.

The bus committee of the common council met with the bus owners at the city hall Thursday evening to discuss the provisions of a proposed new bus ordinance which will shortly be drafted. The present central terminal is also unsatisfactory and a proposition to obtain the vacant lot between Railroad avenue and Thomas street will be investigated.

The bus owners when questioned as to their wishes desired among other things the privilege of discharging and receiving passengers at any point in the city; the permitting of stops at the street corners as the trolley cars now do; a space set aside on the Strand so that buses could draw up to the curb; restrictions on the parking of other automobiles on Thomas street opposite the terminal; and that the city ordinance allow a reduction from 15 cents to 10 cents for fares inside the city limits.

The bus owners stated that they desired a permanent terminal in the center of the city, that the present terminal was inadequate and the waiting room in Pessensars' Hotel unsatisfactory for the needs of patrons.

Howard Winne suggested that the vacant lot mentioned be secured and also a building for a waiting room was approved and a committee of three bus owners, Messrs. Winne, Meyers and Rich, were appointed with Aldermen Martin, Belcher and Buchholz to investigate the matter.

Among the suggestions for a central terminal was the Y. M. C. A., but Mr. Rich, one of the bus men, stated that in a conference with the officials of the institution it was stated that there was no available room for bus patrons. The new parking grounds at the armory were also considered but there is no building that could be used for a waiting room.

The bus committee does not expect to draft a new ordinance hurriedly but will give the matter careful consideration. The committee will meet at a later date.

The Stradivarius Violin.
Stradivarius was born in 1644 and died in 1737. He worked until he was over ninety years of age and turned out a large number of violins and violoncellos. Altogether, according to estimates, about one thousand violins and about three hundred other instruments are attributed to him. These other instruments include different kinds of viola, some bass violi and also some lutes, guitars and mandolins, very exquisitely wrought. The label in a genuine Stradivarius instrument is supposed to have been made of paper. Only an expert can distinguish a genuine instrument.

Happiness.
A small patch of woods on a broad water; back of the woods, a little clearing for garden and hen house. Some cackling, a little crowing. A boat and fishing near. A shelf of books, including encyclopaedia. A fairly silent companion, much given to thought and listening, but capable of occasional intelligent expression. Bunks in a log cabin. My typewriter in a sunny corner. A photograph. Enough dollars each week to insure the next, and—well, that's about all. That's my idea of living!—Richmond Times-Dispatch

Accepting the Treat.
The owner of a shop in a certain Ohio town has the active assistance of his wife in the conduct of the establishment. One day a traveling salesman, after getting a generous order from the man, asked him and his wife to go across to the hotel and dine with him. The storekeeper reflected a moment and then replied: "My wife and I had a late luncheon today and are not hungry; but if you will give me a dollar and seventy-five cents, we will take dinner with you some other time."

"Saint Martin's Summer."
In Europe the recurrence of mild weather in the late autumn is known as Saint Martin's summer and has been recognized for probably a thousand years. The legend is that Saint Martin dressed as a beggar, sat before the portal of a church on an exceptionally bleak day of the late fall. He was suffering severely from exposure. A knight passing the church saw the shivering beggar, and, tearing his coat in two, gave the beggar half. In recognition of the act Saint Martin, by a perpetual miracle, caused mild weather to return annually at this season. The half-warmth of the half summer symbolizes the half warmth of the part of the knight's cloak. Saint Martin's summer was an institution long before the Indians or Indian summer were known, but it is the same phenomenon known by a different name.

ELECTRIC SHOCKS AND DEATH

One Ampere Passing Through Vital Organs is Sufficient to Destroy Life.

Death by electricity is caused from paralysis of the muscles, including the involuntary muscles of the heart, lungs, etc., as well as the destruction to the mental and nervous system of the body, according to George M. Ole, power representative of a large electric power company, writing in a recent issue of Electrical World. It has been found, continues this authority, through exhaustive research work, that a current of one ampere passing through the brain and other vital organs of the body will in most cases produce death if allowed to act for only a short period of time, and it is therefore evident that it is the amperage, together with the energy dissipated in the body, that actually destroys life. On the other hand, the element of voltage enters, inasmuch as the resisting power of the human body is very high, and it requires a voltage comparatively large or small, depending entirely upon the resistance and contacts, to force this amount of current through a circuit in which the body and its contacts constitute the resistance. The resistance of the human body is a variable factor and depends largely upon the applied voltage, inasmuch as the resistance measured from hand to hand with precision instruments on potentials not in excess of ten volts will show approximately 40,000 ohms, while if this potential is increased to 110 volts the resistance breaks down to some extent and becomes nearly 10,000 ohms.

EXAMPLE OF REAL BOOSTING

Modern Sellers of Land Will Find It Hard to Beat Word of Fifty Years Ago.

Westerners have always been noted as being great boosters for their territory. Into one of the pioneer states of fifty years ago Shannon ventured in search of a home. He investigated all phases of the opportunities and possibilities of the country and was well pleased with it in all but one respect.

"You have a great country here, I must admit," Shannon told a native to whom he had confided his plans. "I think there are some great opportunities here and I would settle here immediately but for one thing. I am told by people who are in a position to know that the inhabitants die here at the average age of thirty-two."

"Don't let that worry you," exhorted the native. "That is just another phase of the wonderful co-operation and public-spiritedness of our citizens. They simply die off to make room for the rising generations and the incoming herds!"

Brighter Days Ahead.
"Don't marry a man who hasn't any sense of humor," the Rev. John M. Moore of Brooklyn advises girls. Well, that would solve the housing problem in time.—New York World.

A SHOPPING PLACE FOR THRIFTY PEOPLE

JUST FUN

HE UNDERSTOOD

"You admit you were speeding?"
"Yes, your honor."
"A frank confession goes a long way in this court. What excuse have you for exceeding the speed limit?"
"A man in an old rattletrap drove drove up behind me and bawled to me to get out of the way and let somebody use the street who could get more out of one cylinder than I could get out of six."
"Umph! I do a little motoring myself. I'll let you off with the minimum fine this time."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Part of a Collection.

"Just a moment," interrupted the defendant's lawyer. "You say you despise this man you are suing for $50,000, yet you bring his alleged love letters into court carefully tied up with a pink ribbon?"
"There is no sentiment in that," replied the fair plaintiff, haughtily. "I merely used a pink ribbon to distinguish his from the others."

An Emergency Case.

"Where are you going in such a hurry?"
"To see a friend of mine," said Mr. Gadsby. "He needs my advice."
"Is he in financial difficulties?"
"No. He's the father of a two-year-old boy with curly hair and a dimple in his chin. I've just heard that he is planning to make the child a movie star."

Musical Note.

A very deaf old woman walking along the street saw an Italian turning a peanut roaster. She stood looking at it a while, shook her head, and said: "No, I shan't give you any money for such music as that. I can't hear any of the tunes, and besides it smells as if there were something burning inside."—The Congressionalist.

Something in a Name.

"Now here's a neat bungalow," said the real estate agent. "Just the thing for you, and only $5,000."
"Let's enter into an amiable conspiracy," said the prospective customer.
"Why?"
"Call it a cottage and cut the price."

HELPING HIM OUT

"Your cousin's medical practice, I suppose, doesn't amount to much yet?"
"No. We relatives do all we can, but, of course, we can't be sick all the time."

If.

If time were really money,
Our lucky stars would thank
We'd save up all our leisure
And with it rent a bank.

Information.

"A man in your position cannot know too much," remarked the admiring friend.
"It may be impossible to know too much," replied Senator Sorghum, "but it's mighty easy to tell too much."

Nothing Doing.

"What, you refuse to loan me $20—me your intimate friend, whom you once called your alter ego?"
"Ah, my dear boy, I know myself too well—you would never return the money."

Wiser.

Burrows—Sorry, old chap, but I am looking for a little financial succor, again.
Rings—You'll have to hunt further. I'm not the little financial sucker I used to be.—The Lawyer and Banker.

Proof of Devotion.

"Tom proposed to me last night."
"Did you accept him?"
"Of course I did. Any man who would propose these times when the cost of living is so high must love a girl a lot."

His Comeback.

Wife (bitterly)—The kind of woman for you to have married is a silly fool.
Hub—I'm glad you think I did the correct thing, my dear.

Great Will Power.

"Yes, indeed, my uncle can make me do anything he wants me to."
"He must have great will power."
"You bet he has. He can will $2,000,000."

Probably Had.

He—Haven't I seen you somewhere sometime?
She—Oh, very likely. I was there at the time you mention.

Excellent Qualifications.

Some commonplace things you ought to make sure of: Good sound health, perfect truthfulness, temperance, industry, courage, then, fortitude, that is the power to bear pain and trouble without whining.

BROTHER'S HOME

The fact that his supposedly adored big brother was returning home from college that day had been carefully concealed from ten-year-old Tommy until he came back from school.
"Tommy," said his mother, after her younger son had gone upstairs to wash his face and the elder had been concealed in the pantry, "I have a big surprise for you."
"I know what it is," replied Tommy unconcernedly. "Brother's back."
"Why, how did you guess that?"
"Cause my money-box won't rattle any more."

Had to Walk Back.

"You are an hour late this morning, Sam," said an employee to his negro servant.
"Yes, sah, I was kicked by a mule on my way, sah."
"That ought not to have detained you an hour, Sam."
"Well, you see, boss, it wouldn't if he'd only kicked me in this direction; but he kicked me do other way."

JUST REVERSED.

Doctor: Did he take the medicine I prescribed for him religiously?
Nurse: No, sir, he swore every time.

Gloom.

The camper huddled in his tent,
Was gloomy as could be,
He sang this song of discontent,
"It's raining rain on me."

An Eye Opener.

Hartley had left a nail for seven o'clock.
"Hello!" he exclaimed sleepily, as the boy knocked on the door. "I swear I'm so sleepy I can't open my eyes."
"I'll bring your bill if you like, sir," suggested the boy helpfully.

No Vacancy.

"So he's graduated from college."
"Yep."
"What's he going to do?"
"Hasn't made up his mind. So far there doesn't seem to be any vacancy in the general managerhips of the big concerns."

Under Difficulties.

"Does your wife object to your smoking?"
"No," replied Mr. Meekton; "but she takes a great deal of the pleasure out of it by compelling me to sit in front of the geraniums and blow all the smoke on them to kill the insects."

The Poor Lover.

He had exhausted the weather as a subject of conversation. He eyed his frayed hat as he turned it self-consciously on his knee.
"It's about wore out," he apologized.
"Why don't you wear it out?" she asked pointedly.

Appropriate Nickname.

"Here comes 'April Showers,'" said Tommy to his playmate as his sister, May's beau came up the walk.
"Why do you call him 'April Showers'?" asked the other boy.
"Cause he brings May flowers."

Grateful.

Gladys—My dressmaker wrote to dad that she would make up more dresses for me until her account was settled.
Helen—And what did he say?
Gladys—He just sent her a letter of thanks.

A Careful Wife.

"And her mean husband thinks she's extravagant!"
"Why?"
"Just because she insists on having Fido's monogram stamped on his dog biscuits!"—Literary Digest

Not Customary.

"That's a big sum of money to entrust to a mere boy. Why don't you send an armed guard with him so he won't be held up?"
"I suppose I ought to, but I hate to seem eccentric."

ON THE WING

"That new cook is a bird."
"Yes, a bird of passage. She's going to leave tomorrow."

Back Numbers.

Concerning college football teams,
Too oft it comes to pass
The man who's haliback in the field
Is 'way back in his class.

Sometimes Seems So.

"I try not to feel that way either," said the man who tries to be fair.
"What is it?"
"My friends have so many shortcomings that whatever happens to them seems justified."

Figuring.

Madge—What are you thinking about, dear?
Marjorie—I hope bobbed hair won't go out of style before mine grows again.

Mailing Packages.

When sending parcels a distance through the mail, it is wise to wrap them in several papers, each one addressed and tied, so if the outer wrappings come off the destination will still be known.

Had a Fellow Feeling.
No more independent folk are to be found anywhere than the Yorkshire Moorland dwellers. And drunkenness and fighting are considered excusable sins among them. A man brought before a local justice of the peace charged with drunkenness and assault was given the following sentence by the magistrate: "No, thanks, for I assault will fine you a shilling and costs. As for I drunkenness, we'll say nought about it, as we get drunk ourselves."

Multiply Rapidly.
Enormous powers of rapid increase are exhibited by both the animal and the vegetable kingdoms, and these powers of increase have insured the continuance of the various types of existing life from the earliest geological ages in unbroken succession, while being an important factor in the production of new forms by adaptation. A common weed produces three-fourths of a million seeds, and these, if they all grew and multiplied, would in three years cover the whole land surface of the globe. It has been calculated that the slowest breeding of all animals, the elephant, would, in 750 years, from a single pair, produce 16,000,000 individuals. Rabbits would from a single pair produce 1,000,000 individuals in four or five years.

On Safe Ground.

Whenever Captain Dillaby went to the city on a holiday he would take some young relative for a treat. On one such occasion he told his seventeen-year-old grandson that they would dine at a real cafe and get "a taste of fancy cooking." When they were at last seated in the great dining room the grandson waited impatiently while the captain read the menu completely through without omitting a single article. At last he sighed and handed the card across the table to the boy. "You choose what you like, sonny," he said. "As for me, I reckon as I've already eat more herrin' than any other man livin'." I might as well stow away a little more. It's always agreed with me so far."—Harper's Magazine.

Throw Your Shoulders Back.

You can have just as bad posture with shoulders back as you can with the shoulders forward. In fact, there is a kind of bad posture that creeps on men as they grow older and add the burden of prosperity and ease which accumulates amidst under the well-tailored vest. This weight carried well forward must be balanced by an equal weight carried well back of the center of gravity. Therefore the head and shoulders are thrown back and carried there, with great dignity, it is true, but if the truth were known they merely serve as counterbalance for a lot of half-dead superfluous weight in front. "Shoulders back" and "stomach front" go together, declares G. Ward Crumpton, M. D., in The Health Builder. Shoulders back is likely to distort the body. As an instruction to small children it is particularly bad. When the little one is willing to please, he pulls the shoulders back and with them the chest and upper trunk as well.

NEW MINISTER AT PORT EWEN

The Rev. Martin F. Luther installed as Minister of the Port Ewen Reformed Church.

On Tuesday evening a large congregation witnessed the installation service of the Rev. Martin F. Luther of Somerville, N. J., who had accepted a call of the congregation of the Port Ewen Reformed Church to become their minister. The Rev. Dr. Van Wort of Rockbury, N. Y., who is president of the synod, was unable to be present and he appointed the Rev. J.
B. Stokette of Kingston stated clerk of the synod of Ulster to preside.
The opening prayer was made by the Rev. Dr. Wright of the Port Ewen M.
E. Church. The Scripture lesson read and installation prayer by the Rev. C.
B. Polhemus of Port Ewen, the Rev.
Dr. Hoeve of the First Reformed Church of Kingston preached the sermon. The Rev. W. F. Stowe of the Church of the Comforter of Kingston, N. Y., gave the charge to his people and the Rev. George W.
Gulick of the Reformed Church of Ulster Park gave the charge to the minister. The divine truth which was brought to the congregation by the speakers of the evening will have a spiritual influence among the congregation and community. The service closed with the Benediction by the newly installed minister.

The following clergymen were present: The Rev. J. B. Stokette,
Kingston, N. Y.; the Rev. Dr. Hoeve,
Kingston, N. Y.; the Rev. W. F.
Stowe, Kingston, N. Y.; the Rev.
George W. Gulick, Ulster Park; the Rev. Leonard Braam, Accord, N. Y.;
the Rev. Dr. Nichols, Woodstock, N.
Y.; the Rev. C. H. Polhemus, Port
Ewen, N. Y.; the Rev. Dr. Wright,
Port Ewen, N. Y.; the Rev. Martin F.
Luther, Port Ewen, N. Y.; the Rev.
Paul Luther, son of the minister installed.

UNABLE TO DECIPHER DISK

Archaeologists Admit They Are Puzzled Over Interpretation of Pictugraphs Concerning Egypt.

What is the Phaistos disk? Ever since 1906, when it was found on the site of the palace of Phaistos in southern Crete, it has puzzled archaeologists.
It looks, says a contributor to the London Graphic, much like a photograph record; it is from three-fifths to four-fifths of an inch thick and is six inches in diameter. It is made of fine clay and is supposed to have been shaped during the Middle Minoan period or approximately 1600 B. C.

The disk is stamped with 45 pictugraphs arranged in spiral form to be read, apparently, from the outer edge to the center. Four-fifths of the characters are entirely new. One that is exceptionally puzzling—the plumed head of a warrior—appears not less than 18 times.

At one time archaeologists hoped that the characters on the disk would prove to be elementary forms of the Phoenician alphabet. Then the thought of an alphabet was discarded, and students sought to interpret the characters by regarding them as notes of music. The results are encouraging.
Perhaps some day the disk may tell us of the strains to which the beautiful Ariadne, daughter of King Minos, danced and prayed.

SAVED BY INTELLIGENT DOG

How Animal in Australia Brought Relief to Helpless Man Severely Injured in Accident.

A remarkable instance of intelligence in a dog, leading to the relief of an injured man, is reported from the neighborhood of Grafton, Australia.

Riding a horse ten miles from home
in a lonely spot, a man had his thigh broken by the horse stumbling, falling and then rolling on him.

The horse regained its feet and galloped away, leaving its master on the ground in great agony. His only hope was his dog, which ran around in a state of great excitement, evidently aware of the gravity of the accident.

The injured man thought out a scheme for making his whereabouts known. Calling the dog to him he tied his coat round it and ordered it to go home. At first it did not realize what the plan was, but suddenly it understood and raced away, and in two hours returned, bringing a rescue party of the sufferer's relatives.

Shall we say that the dog had no thought in understanding and carrying out this complicated process of relief?

Money and Honey Plants.

It is reported that the honey crop of the United States approximates 220,000,000 pounds. It may be pointed out in this connection that as the nectar of flowers does not become honey until it is worked over and partly evaporated by the bees, these insects must move fully 120,000 tons of material during the season to make the honey crop, not including the honey consumed by the bees themselves.

About half of this honey is produced from the clover. Next in importance comes alfalfa, followed closely by sweet clover. These are all leguminous plants, as is legume, which produces much honey in the tropics.

Among the few plants yielding a honey that can be recognized are cotton, hawthorn, tulip tree, blackberry, goldenrod and mountain sage.—Washington Star.

Packing Furniture.

When packing furniture for moving,
old coverings will be found invaluable
for wrapping legs of chairs and tables.
They will not tear or leave exposed places for scratching, as paper does.

ALBANY PROTESTS GAME LOST HERE

Charging that the spectators waved their hats and coats in the air and shook the net when the Albany players were shooting foul baskets, and further stating other grave charges that will be thrashed out at a meeting this Saturday evening of the different managers. William Hepinstall, manager of the Albany State League team, has protested the game which was played in this city on Wednesday evening between Kingston and Albany.

Hepinstall also alleges that Referee Davy permitted a basket to count which had been made after the time was up at the end of the first half.

In view of the fact that Kingston has also protested a game which was played in Albany some time ago, the meeting of the managers on Saturday should be an exceedingly interesting one.

Insult or Flattery?

"That woman next door is a terrible liaser," complained a young wife.
"She said something to me this morning, and I don't know whether it flattered you or insulted me—and I really dare not ask her." "What did she say?" asked her husband. "Well," came the answer, "I told her of all the work you put in to make the place nice, and she was so sympathetic over my difficulties. But then she added,
'But, my dear, it's a good thing
you've got a yuthful husband!'"—

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT SHOULD BE SPEEDY

Several responses have been received to the appeal of Miss Mabel McClure, local Catholic Charities agent, for help in certain specified cases which were published in The Freeman several days ago. Mrs. Charles DeForest offered to supply milk for the winter for Case No. 2. Other contributions include an anonymous gift of $10 for any case; Jacob Rice, for any case, $5; Cora Hughes, to be divided among the cases, $4; Catholic Daughters of America, for any case, $10. Several donations of clothing have been received for the families mentioned. While many Kingstonians undoubtedly intend to respond to the appeal, the time in which to make the gifts bear the Christmas spirit is growing short and further contributions may be sent to Miss McClure at the K. of C. building on Broadway.

Girl Hit by Auto.

Stanley Nestell of No. 80 Hurley avenue, who drives the delivery car of the Wiltwyck Laundry, reported to the police headquarters Thursday afternoon that a Willys-Knight car, owner unknown, collided with his car at Foxhall avenue and Grand street. The other car before hitting the delivery car struck a young girl named Margaret Cosgrove of No. 19 Shufeldt street. It was reported that she was not seriously hurt.

Flow of Language.
A colored preacher, one of the men who are never at a loss for words, was commending to his congregation one of the organs of the church, and this is how he did it:

"The missionary bulletin of this church needs subscribers. It is young and unfinancial, but through the instrumentality of backbone and grit it will become an ideal. It was ushered into existence out of purely innocent contemplation of moral and religious good, which would, in all probability, result from carefully agitated principles or righteousness. The bulletin will be observed intently in social conventions to furnish with sheaves of harvest those reasonable products common to social contingencies. The tone of the whole will be missionary work."

One of the Family.

Tillie had been placed by her aunt in a situation as maid of all work in a family of three. At the end of a week the aunt dropped in to see how she was getting on.

"Do you like your work?" she asked. "It's fair," said the laconic Tillie. "And are they making you feel at home?" "Sometimes they do, and sometimes they don't." "Now what do you mean by that?" demanded the aunt. "Well," said Tillie, "they haven't asked me to go to church with them yet; but last night they went on with a grand quartet they were having, all the three of them, with me taking the dishes off the table, just as if I had been one of the family."—Harper's Magazine.

The Magi.
The Magi were the "wise men from the East" who came to Jerusalem to bring gifts to the infant Saviour, as is related in the second chapter of St. Matthew's gospel. Magi is the Latin for "wise men" in the Vulgate translation of the Bible. The traditional names of the three Magi are Melchior, represented as an old man with a long beard, offering gold; Jasper, a beardless youth, who offers frankincense; and Balthazar, a black or Moor, with a large spreading beard, who gives myrrh. They are the patron saints of travelers.

GRAIN "THRASHED" BY YAKS

Methods in Tibet Remain as Primitive as They Have Been Through the Centuries.

Thrashing is a "simple" process in Tibet. Yaks are employed in doing this hard work, and all that these "live thrashing machines" need to inspire them is plenty of noise and music. The yak is a large heavy animal, a cross between the bison and the ox. It has long hair, which fringes down over its shoulders, sides and tail in a great mass.

Before the thrashing begins the barley is cut and strewn in an inclosure of hard-beaten earth. The grain is stacked several inches deep in this inclosure, which is usually about half an acre in size. After the barley is in place, about forty or fifty yaks are driven into the space.

The farmers, their wives and children all gather at the house where the thrashing is to be done. They bring with them all of the old drums, rattles, bells, empty kerosene cans, pans and other implements from which a noise can be extracted. Soon the yaks, frightened and angry, rush through the barley with their huge fringed tails high in the air. Back and forth they run, trampling the barley with their huge feet, and the barley is thrashed out in clean grains at the bottom of the inclosure.

"LIFE" IN INANIMATE THINGS

Metals, for instance, Easily Proved to Be Sensitive to Degrees of Heat and Cold.

Scientists tell us that life may exist in objects previously considered inanimate, such as stone or iron. It is now known that metals are sensitive not only to heat and cold, but also to narcotics and stimulants. Strange as it may seem, you can poison a piece of steel. Take two steel bars. Heat them red-hot and allow one to cool in the air and the other in hydrogen. The latter will be found to be poisoned. It will be brittle and unfit for use as tool steel. Metals, again, suffer from over-fatigue. The most common example is when your razor-edge becomes dull and the most careful stropping fails to restore its edge. But if you rest the razor for a week or two the steel regains its temper. When stone goes sick it is very difficult to cure. Paints have been used, but without much effect. In these days the architect has at his command certain mysterious liquids which can be squirted onto decaying stone, and which, sinking in, make the surface hard and weather-proof. But the process is apt to spoil the appearance of the stone.

First "America's Cup" Race.

The first international yacht race to establish title to the America's cup was held over the New York Yacht club's course, and resulted in a victory for the American cutter Magic, 97 tons, over the English schooner Cambria, 227 tons. The trophy was offered by the British Yacht squadron when the schooner America visited England in 1851, and came to be called "America's cup" by reason of the victory of the Yankee craft over all the pleasure boats of England in a race around the Isle of Wight. The America was built in Boston and was of 170 tons. By deed of gift of the owners of the winner, the trophy was presented to the New York Yacht club and constituted a challenge cup for the yachts of all nations.—Chicago Journal.

For Your Goldfish Bowl.
Here is a helpful hint for better success in keeping your piscatorial pets: On the outside of your goldfish bowl, or globe, paint the bottom and about two inches above the bottom with dark green paint.

This adds greatly to the comfort of your water pets. They will not swim so wildly, but seek the bottom and rest. Pretty castles can be built of rough pebbles and cement by choosing a cement that will not be affected by water, and also tunnels, projections and nooks, which will be appreciated by the fish.

Besides, the rest and comfort this paint gives to the fish adds to their longevity and growth.

Looks Like George.
Mrs. R. M. B. writes: "Last Sunday afternoon I told my little girl that her father was asleep and that I wanted her to tell her brother to be as silent as the Sphinx. A moment later I heard her repeat my warning to her brother, aged seven, and inquire what a 'Sphinx' was."

"Why, don't you know?" answered Robert, who is quite a student for his age. "A Sphinx is a big thing that grows in Egypt and looks like George Washington."—Los Angeles Times.

OF DISTINCT TYPE

Hawaiian Volcanoes Are Unique in Many Respects.

No Explosive Eruptions, Such as That of Vesuvius, Which Destroyed Pompeii and Herculaneum.

The activity of Kilauea, a volcano of Hawaii, is interesting more for the character of the eruptions than for any other phenomena. The popular description of the volcano as "a mountain which smokes fire, molten lava and other" was long ago discarded.

The eruptions, or rather ones, is not the volcano. It is the product of many eruptions. The fire is the glow of white-hot lava that flows into minute particles by explosive action. In general a volcanic eruption is a tremendous steam explosion. The mingled steam and dust shot a mile or more into the air resembles smoke in appearance. Frequently they form a cumulus cloud from which pour torrents of lava.

The eruption of Kilauea, the most active and also the most famous of Hawaiian volcanoes, exhibits none of these features. Kilauea is a pit crater, about eight miles around, in a lava field not quite 5,000 feet above sea level. The walls of the crater are all the way from 100 to 600 feet high, measured from the crater floor.

At times, indeed, most of the time, the crater floor is like the surface of a frozen lake. Then, with scarcely a warning, the floor melts and the crater is a lake of molten lava. Occasionally the level of the lava rises until it flows over the lowest notch in the rampart wall. Then a stream, which may be a tremendous flood, flows away toward the sea.

That is an eruption of Kilauea, or of its nearby neighbor Mokuawaweo, at the summit of Mauna Loa, more than two miles above sea level. Explosive eruptions, like those of Vesuvius, may have occurred within historic times, but the record of them does not appear, except as boulder-like masses of lava and great fragments of pumice in the vicinity indicate them. Tremendous force is required to push a column of lava to the crater floor of Kilauea, half a mile higher than the summit of Vesuvius; a still greater force to push up to the floor of Mokuawaweo, nearly two miles higher.

Perhaps the expenditure of force in pushing the lava to such great heights may explain why there are no explosive features about Hawaiian volcanoes. They stand strongly defined as a type by themselves. Nevertheless, the successive eruptions have built Hawaii atop the rain clouds, spreading it over an area as large as Connecticut.

Civil War Levers, Finally Wad.

A romance of Civil war days culminated in Pittsburgh, Pa. the other day when a marriage license was issued to John Danks, aged seventy-eight years, a retired farmer, and Mrs. Amanda M. Thomas, aged seventy-six years. They were sweethearts when that war began, they told newspaper men, but Danks joined the colors and they drifted apart.

Since then both married. Danks going to Oregon, where he farmed until last year, when his wife died.

Returning to Pittsburgh, he learned that his old sweetheart, a widow, was living in the Hazelwood district. He called on her, and for several weeks they met daily and discussed days gone by. Finally the path of destiny led them to the marriage office.

Vessel Tonnage.

As explained by the United States shipping board, deadweight tonnage expresses the number of tons of 2,240 pounds that a vessel can transport of cargo, stores and bunker fuel. A vessel's capacity for weight cargo is less than its total deadweight tonnage. Gross tonnage applies to vessels, not to cargo. It is determined by dividing by 100 the contents, in cubic feet, of the vessel's closed-in spaces. A vessel ton is 100 cubic feet. Net tonnage is a vessel's gross tonnage minus deductions for crew, by machinery for navigation, by the engine room and fuel. A vessel's net tonnage expresses the space available for the accommodation of passengers and the stowage of cargo.

Champion Letter Writers.

Some remarkable facts have been brought to light recently regarding letter writing in the various countries of the world. It is not a surprise, however, to learn that in the two great English-speaking countries the average number of letters per inhabitant is far and away above that in any other country. In actual figures, it works out at 112 a year for each person in America and eighty-four in England. These figures may not seem to be extraordinary at first sight, but when it is realized that they mean that in the United States there were handled almost 11,000,000,000 letters last year, a slight idea of the enormous development of the country's postal facilities necessary for such a task, may be gained.—Christian Science Monitor.

Years Made a Difference.

Barth, three, had decided ideas along certain lines. She very much enjoyed her warm bath, but objected to the cold spray following. "But mother takes a cold spray," insisted the mother. "Well, I don't care," waited the impatient Barth, "you're forty years older."

Two Tastes in One.

BIRD FEASTS ON LIVE SHEEP

Species of Parrot is the Most Formidable Enemy of the New Zealand Farmer.

There is no other parrot like the kea. The power centered in its neck, beak and talons is so great that the kea is the most formidable pest with which the New Zealand sheep farmer has to contend. While soaring overhead it selects its prey, and swooping downwards, settles on the sheep's back and proceeds to tear away the wool with its beak, then, digging deep into the flesh, holds on to the wool with its talons until thoroughly gorged.

When the first settlers came to New Zealand the kea was mainly a vegetarian, the animal part of its diet being confined to insects and grubs. It has been suggested that it acquired its taste for sheep flesh from the offal which the farmers left exposed after slaughtering a sheep.

And speaking of sheep in New Zealand, in the mountain districts there flourishes a plant known as the Raoulia, or vegetable sheep—a mass of closely packed twigs thickly covered with white, woolly leaves. Seen from a distance the Raoulia so closely resembles a sheep, or a group of sheep, resting on the hillside that shepherds are often led to make a long trek in its direction, mistaking it for lost members of their flock.

The Center's Responsibility.

Teddy and Bobby were sitting out on the front steps, waiting until Bobby's mother had been kind enough to give to them.

"Don't you just wish you had a million pigs to eat?" Teddy asked of Bobby.

"Um-m-m" was all Bobby was able to reply, owing to the fullness of his mouth. Teddy, however, felt talkative. "Bobby, suppose a poor hungry ragged boy came along the street and there, suppose he didn't have anything to eat. Would you give him some of your pig?"

"No," Bobby replied promptly. "You give him some of your own pig. You supposed him?"—Kansas City Star.

VOLSTEAD WON'T LET PROBE DROP

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Dec. 15.—Unwillingness of Representative Keller, Republican, Minnesota, to appear before the house judiciary committee in support of his impeachment charges against Attorney General Daugherty will not bring the proceedings to an end, but will result in a more determined investigation of the various "high crimes and misdemeanors" charged against the attorney general, Representative Volstead, Republican, Minnesota, the committee chairman, announced this afternoon.

Keller was subpoenaed to appear before the committee this morning, but he ignored the subpoena.

When Keller did appear, the committee became involved in a debate as to what was to be done.

Attorney James H. Vahey of Boston, identified with the move to oust Daugherty, read the committee a letter from Jackson Russell, in which he said he had to go out of town today and that Representative Keller would appear at a later time to renew and press his charges that Daugherty is "unfit" to be attorney general. Keller charged that the committee, under the chairmanship of Representative Volstead, Republican, Minnesota, was "packed" against him, decided every controversial point in favor of the attorney general and that he was unable to obtain a "fair consideration" of his charges.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Dec. 15.—The stock market opened irregular today. Baldwin Locomotive started 1/4 lower at 126 1/4 while United States Steel was 1/4 higher at 106 1/4. General Asphalt showed a gain of 1/4 at 47 1/4 and Marine Preferred was 1/4 higher at 49 1/4. Corn Products fell 1/4 to 130 1/4, while Sears Roebuck was 1/4 higher at 83 1/4. Studebaker showed a loss of 1/4 at 132 1/4. The railroad shares were practically unchanged.

The pronounced improvement in the copper industry indicated by the advance in the price of the metal and large consumption made the copper stocks prominent feature of the trading during the first hour and at the end of that period heavy buying orders came in, making them sell at new high prices for the month.

The most important feature of the market in the late afternoon was the development of increased strength in the steel industry and several of the mercantile issues. U. S. Steel made a gain of 1 point to above 108, a gain of 8 points since the beginning of the month. A number of other issues made gains of one point or more.

The market closed firm; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds firm.

Football Captain Surprised.

On Tuesday evening of this week a group of high school students decided to leave their books and journey out to Lucas avenue, where resides, in more or less seclusion, a fellow by the name of Kenneth Davis who has made a name for himself in the last two years on the football field, having played on the varsity squad for two successive seasons and during the season which has just closed. The purpose of this journey was to give him a surprise party, which they certainly did in every sense of the word. Eighteen different individuals, or nine couples, then proceeded to have one fine time for the rest of the evening dancing and playing numerous games. Prizes were won by the Misses Margaret Richards and Katherine Bennett, and the Messrs Ross Vogt and Kenneth Davis. Along towards midnight refreshments, such as only can be obtained on a farm, were served and sometime after twelve the guests began to depart for the city of Kingston after voicing their hearty approval of the Davis hospitality. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Otis Davis, the Misses Katherine Bennett, Margaret Richards, Alice MacLaughlin, Sanchez Barmann, Mildred Tronson, Marion Bruckner, Marie Ferrill, Estelle Rodgers and the Messrs Kenneth Davis, Ross Vogt, Earl McLane, Charles Whitaker, Henry Barmann, John Tremper, Ralph Perry and Herbert Anderson.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT URGED FOR NEAR EAST CHILDREN

Morgenthau and Roosevelt Plead
That Homeless Little Ones of Bible Lands Be Remembered

That the orphan children of the Near East, whose parents perished by massacre and starvation and whose only hope of continued life lies in the work of the American Near East Relief, may not be forgotten in planning Christmas gifts, is the plea of Henry Morgenthau, ex-Ambassador to Turkey, and Theodore Roosevelt of the Near East Relief Executive Committee.

Mr. Morgenthau and Mr. Roosevelt have sent a Christmas letter to the friends and supporters of Near East Relief which makes an eloquent appeal on behalf of the children. The letter follows:

New York, December 10, 1922.

Dear Friends:
"I shall be good and lose no time," said Robert Louis Stevenson after reading Dickens' Christmas Stories. Many have found that the greatest for consists in doing for others. How better can we express the intent of Christmas than by making it possible for little children, bereft of parents, to be fed, sheltered and cared for?

In Bible lands there are 115,000 orphan boys and girls under American protection who can remain safe from peril only as continued support is afforded. We plead for them as Christmas approaches. Will you not help us carry on the work? We ask not luxuries for them, but plain necessities.

President Harding in a recent appeal to the nation emphasized that the Near East Relief is an officially recognized Governmental agency, chartered by the United States Congress. Non-sectarian, it administers relief regardless of race, color or creed.

Representative men like Fred B. Smith, Dr. Robert E. Spear and Rabbi Lyons, who recently visited Near East Relief orphanages and hospitals, declare that the business administration of Near East Relief is 100 per cent efficient. Nowhere in the world does a dollar go so far in saving life.

The pity is that hundreds of children remain unprotected for. Isn't it hard enough to be an orphan at Christmas, without the added cruelty of hunting like an animal for daily bread? Dr. Elliott at Erivan last January had to close the shutters when it snowed, so as not to hear the cries of cold and hungry children outside. It is winter again around Ararat!

Shall their little fellows and their sisters cry in vain for the food, home and love that we can give?

A blank check is enclosed for your convenience. Although in holiday dress, it is a negotiable check ready for your pen.

Gratefully yours,

Henry Morgenthau
Theodore Roosevelt

Cleveland H. Dodge, who first sponsored the Near East Relief at the urgent request of Henry Morgenthau, then ambassador to Turkey, is treasurer of the Near East Relief and Christmas contributions made for the destitute children should be sent to him at the Near East Relief headquarters, 151 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

24-HOUR NIGHT IN LONDON

Mrs. Henry Down of Pine Grove has just received a letter from her sister, Mrs. Robert Cook, of Charing East, Kent, England, that contains interesting news. The letter was written on November 28, at 7:45 p. m., and in it Mrs. Cook tells of her husband just going out into the garden to plant cabbages by moonlight.

In marked contrast to this letter came one from another sister, Mrs. John Toad of Bodmersham, Kent, England, telling of London's longest night, November 21-22, and including newspaper clippings and pictures of this strange phenomena. The "Day-night Scenes in London" are of Trafalgar Square at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and of Northumberland Avenue just before the light of day was eclipsed, and they are very strange.

The newspaper clipping states that "London at noon was as dark as London at midnight." Not a ray of daylight got through. The "sky" was as black as on a starless night. All the main streets were lighted and all vehicular traffic carried lights. The atmosphere was comparatively clear, but it was feared that at any moment the fog would descend and envelop the city. It was so dark that no one knew when night fell off, for its arrival made no apparent difference. The morning street markets in London were illuminated with flaming kerosene lamps, and all trains coming into the city were lighted. There were none of the ordinary fog characteristics about this blackness. It was just night time in day time, with no dampness and no chill. The streets were quite free from fog. It was a dense belt of smoke hanging overhead under a bank of cloud, owing to the fact that the temperature of the upper regions of the air was higher than that on the earth's surface.

BARBON HOLDS OLD MANSION

Mascot, Devoted by Bootleggers, Makes Night Foray and Attacks Boy.

ROUTED BY POLICE DOG

Search Parties Hunt Marauder in Vain—Some Persons Have Been Animal at Night, but Have Been Unable to Capture Him.

Babylon, L. I.—A "barbon," believed to have been the mascot of seafaring bootleggers and left ashore after a rum-running expedition to Great South bay, has taken up its home in the abandoned house on what was formerly the estate of the late Cornelius Bergen, between Babylon and Lindenhurst. The nocturnal forays of the animal, which included an attack upon William, the fifteen-year-old son of Charles Ellinger, the caretaker who lives on the grounds, have aroused the countryside, and hunting parties have been organized in which agents of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals have joined.

Unfrequented Place. The Bergen estate, which is now owned by Mrs. William E. Hawkins, comprises about 200 acres and lies between Old Country road and the shore of Great South bay. It is a lonely and unfrequented place, in the center of which is located the old Bergen home, a three-story building now falling into ruin. Young William Ellinger went down to the creek in the dusk of falling night several days ago to look after muskrat traps, taking with him William Tell, a Belgian police dog. The boy was walking slowly along the side of the creek when he came suddenly upon the barbon, which apparently had just dropped from a limb of a tree. The boy shouted to frighten the animal away, but instead the barbon made for young Ellinger. It knocked him down with a sweep of one long arm and was tearing at his clothing when, in fright, the boy called to his dog. As William Tell came bounding up the barbon met the dog with a swing of its arm that sent William Tell flying back several feet. The dog returned in a jump and closed in. After a few moments of snarling and biting the barbon gave a screech of pain and fled into the underbrush.

Seen Several Times. Young Ellinger hurried home to report. He said he first thought it was a man, for the animal stood as tall as himself, and William is a big boy for his age. An investigation next day failed to disclose the barbon, but since then it has been seen several times. It was seen through the window of the old house moving about inside. Some hunters say they saw it at one of the upper windows. One man declares that as he approached the house he saw the animal climb out of a third-story window, seize the lightning-rod and slide down to the ground. So quickly was this done and so surprised was the hunter that he could not get his gun to his shoulder before the barbon had rounded a corner of the house and was out of sight.

A hunting party from Babylon came out and tramped in vain for hours through the estate. At the request of Mrs. Hawkins the agents of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals took up the search, but so far without result.

Drowned by Fish He Spared. Gig Harbor, Wash.—While spearing fish at Sunrise beach, near here, Albert Garneau, eighteen years old, appeared a devil fish that dragged him from his boat and drowned him. Nearby fishermen rowed to Garneau's assistance but he was dead when taken from the water. Garneau made the mistake of sparing his line to his body instead of to the boat.

NEW "BEERAGES" HELD UP

When the British Tories were in power twenty years ago the peerage was dubbed the "beverage" because of the large number of brewers who received titles. It seems that quicker-witted Lloyd George perceived that more powerful support might be secured from the press than from all the rich brewers combined. At any rate it is stated that during his six years as Premier he caused titles and other honors to be conferred on forty-nine British journalists, hoping thus to bring a large section of the press under his control. As retiring Premier Lloyd George has the right to present to King George a further list of men he regards as worthy of peerages or other titles, but, according to a London dispatch, this list has not been made public and there is much speculation as to the cause.

One explanation is that the King has held up sanction of the list pending the report of the Royal Commission appointed to investigate charges that titles were bought for cash. The more recent scandal of this sort, leading to the appointment of the commission, began last summer, but for years it has been charged that any man who contributed generously enough to party funds could get a title. Under the Lloyd George regime, it is said, $200,000 was paid for some peerages and from $35,000 to $100,000 for knighthoods. It is both interesting and refreshing to learn that Sir J. B. Robinson, South African diamond millionaire, who was slated for a peerage, promptly declined the dubious honor as soon as the latest title scandal was started and in his published statement emphatically declared that he never contributed a penny to the funds of any party.

The attempt to impeach Attorney General Daugherty is a forerunner of the radical demonstrations that will probably distinguish the next Congress. As a friend of the president, he won the enmity of certain reformers for the prominent part he played in winning the nomination for Mr. Harding at Chicago. His use of the injunction against violence in the railroad strike gained him more opponents from the ranks of those who are always seeking to capitalize the real or fancied distress of the working classes. His refusal to make the Department of Justice subject to the orders of others, and to institute certain prosecutions that militant reformers insisted should be pressed, has added to his foes. Mr. Daugherty is energetically fighting back at his attackers, and the odds against him have slight chance of success.

For what we furnished the allied nations during the war we hold their paper promises to pay. For what the allied nations furnished us they hold our cash. No cancellation scheme that has not been proposed suggests that the cash be handed back in return for the wiping off of a like amount of paper promises. The allied find it convenient to refer to the material we furnished as being for the common object of winning the war, intimating that we should expect no pay for it, but the services and material furnished by them for the use of the American army has already been recompensed with good American gold. There is no suggestion of the common object for which that was used.

The aftermath of the war is still responsible for unforeseen expenditures during the fiscal year. It is impossible to anticipate a year in advance the items for which the treasury is obliged from time to time to submit supplementary estimates. But that condition is rapidly disappearing, and succeeding years will see the annual budget more and more closely predicting the actual receipts and expenditures. It is unfortunate that the first years of our budget law should be through such a trying period, but it has completely vindicated itself and will become more indispensable as time goes on.

The prime purpose of the pending ship legislation is to give the people of the country the cheapest and best transportation possible between the United States and the countries with which we trade. The ship bill has been drafted with that single object

In view. Its critics propose no other means for accomplishing that end, and content themselves in opposing their own views to those of men who have made shipping their life-long study.

1. How many broods does the blue jay raise each nesting season?
 Only one brood. In the latitude of New York city the nest is built the latter part of May, in more southern regions, earlier. If our correspondent (from South Carolina) happened on a late nest, we suggest the birds may have had some accident to the normal nest and were making a new attempt.

About what height does a sunflower grow to? I have one with a 12-foot stalk and a blossom 14 inches diameter.

We can't give a rule for height, as this varies so with the vigor of the plant. 8 to 10 feet would be a full specimen. Apparently this correspondent had his plant in soil that proved exceptionally stimulating. A spectacular exhibit like this should be photographed with a man standing alongside, to show up the height.

WHY

Idle Word Is Something to Be Guarded Against

The idle word that stings is as old as human speech. Spoken thoughtlessly or spoken in a moment of irritation, it says more than the speaker meant. At least it says more than he would have said if he had taken second thought. Too often in a busy moment one who really would not for worlds cause lasting hurt does just that because he reaches for the first remark that will register.

These idle words go deep, deep into the heart and memory of the one to whom they are addressed. If he tends to brood, he reflects: "But he could not have said that, even in a hasty moment, if it had not been the real thought of his heart. That is the way he thinks of me." Sometimes such a thoughtless saying embitters a part of a whole life alters a friendship that has been held very dear, continues to hurt his cost years after the speaker has forgotten it.

There is no way of reaching this harm by laws and courts. There is no way of resolving that one will never say the thing that causes needless hurt, except by resolving to build up a habit in one's life of saying only kindly things until quiet reflection has shown the need of something else. This is not a text for weaklings, a counsel of meekness to the point of being trodden upon. It was not a weak man who prayed: "Set a watch before the door of my lips," nor a fool who wrote: "She openeth her mouth with wisdom, and in her tongue is the law of kindness."—Milwaukee Journal.

CANNOT FEED POPULATION

Why the Standard of Life in Over-crowded India Is of Relatively Low Order.

Compared with the United States, India has a smaller area and a much larger population, writes Harold Cox in Asia Magazine. The area of India, including the semi-independent Indian states, is less than two-thirds of the area of the United States; but the population is three times as large.

It may reasonably be inferred, that India is already overfull of human beings. Yet social customs and religious creeds still impose upon Indian parents the duty of begetting children regardless of the means available for their maintenance, with the result that children are poured into the world even more rapidly than in Europe and in the United States. Roughly one in four of the infants thus brought into being dies before it has ceased to be an infant. Others die in early youth or early manhood. The average duration of life in India is far below the average of western Europe and America.

Beyond this is the final fact that the whole standard of life is lowered because the resources of the country do not suffice for the adequate maintenance of the millions who are striving to live.

How Cold May Be Stopped.

A writer to the New York World, who signs himself "X X J," presents the following discovery of a method of nipping an oncoming cold in the bud: "At the first sneeze I drink half a teaspoon of bicarbonate of soda in half a glass of water, and I repeat the dose in half an hour. This treatment has stopped a dozen threatened colds in a year."

"I don't know why this simple treatment is so efficient, but the chronic cold catcher will notice his sneezing usually starts a short time after dinner or some other hearty meal. Perhaps the white corpuscles have left the throat and nose to guard the stomach. The soda, reducing acidity, lets them go back to their job in the head. The doctors may snort at the remedy but it works."

How Toothache May Be Abolished.

Toothache may be abolished by the investigations of three English physicians, Professor McIntosh, Dr. Warwick James and Dr. P. L. Barlow, who have succeeded in identifying two special bacilli that cause the impairment of teeth the real originators of toothache. The bacteria germs were located by applying to the enamel of teeth the acids produced by the various bacilli found in the cavities of the mouth. Most of these could not live in acids which were strong enough to affect the enamel and finally these two were found that possessed that capacity and may therefore be assumed to be the real reason for decayed teeth.

Why the Ocean Is Salt.

The sea is salt because salt is a mineral which percolates largely in the earth, and which, being soluble in water, is taken up by the ocean. All lakes and rivers hold some degree of saline matter, which they contribute to the ocean. When the sun evaporates the water in the sea, the salt is left behind. This vapor forms clouds and falls again as rain. The rain washes the earth and carries more saline minerals to the ocean. In this way the ocean has become far more salty than lakes and rivers.

Wrong Anatomically.

An interesting controversy is being revived in Coventry, England. The ancient arms of the city show an elephant with his knees at the back of his hind legs, as in the case of a horse, whereas an elephant can kneel like a man. It is pointed out that as the designer of the arms has burdened the elephant with a castle he might have allowed the animal to take his rest naturally.

TWO TO REWED AFTER 46 YEARS

Old Love Tangle Is Cleared Up After Long Separation of Couple.

QUARRELED IN YOUTH

Duration of Separation Saw Woman Twice a Widow and Husband a Widower Once—Woman Was a Bigamist Without Knowing It.

Alma, Neb.—Mrs. William Shipman of Alma got mad at her first husband, William C. Montgomery, of Oquawka, Henderson county, Ia., forty-six years ago and left him. Two weeks ago, after a wait of forty-six years, they were divorced. Now they plan to remarry. In talking over the divorce they decided that forty-six years of separation was enough. During those forty-six years Mrs. Shipman had had two husbands and Mr. Montgomery had had one wife. Both of Mrs. Shipman's husbands are dead and Montgomery has been a widower for ten or fifteen years.

Montgomery is sixty-seven years old. Mrs. Shipman is sixty-five.

Had Family "Spit."

The Montgomerys were married in Oquawka in the spring of 1876. They lived together a year or so. Then they had a family "spit" and Mrs. Montgomery got up and walked out of the house. Montgomery never saw her again until two or three months ago, when she came to Oquawka to get a copy of the divorce decree which she thought was issued back in 1877. Montgomery waited two years for his wife to return. Then he brought suit for divorce. Some years later he married again and continued living in the same house in Oquawka, to which he had taken his first wife as a bride. Ten or fifteen years ago this second wife died.

After walking out of her home in 1876 Mrs. Montgomery went west—went to Nebraska.

Her sister, Mrs. James Morris, of Oquawka, wrote her of the divorce petition filed by Montgomery. A few years afterwards she remarried. Her second husband died and later she married William Shipman, a Civil war veteran, living at Alma. A year ago Shipman died.

No Divorce Decree.

Mrs. Shipman applied for a pension as the widow of Shipman. She found that she had to have a copy of the divorce decree from her first husband, William Montgomery, so, several weeks ago, she went to Oquawka to get it. A record of the suit was

MANY MR. SPARKS

Most of Us Have Met Men of His Exact Type.

Self-Made and Highly Worthy, of Course, but They Are Forgetful of One Fact.

Mr. Spark likes to tell about his early struggles and puff with pride over the material things he has been able to accumulate in spite of them. After he has regaled the company with expensive opera records on his superlatively fine phonograph and has called their attention to numerous furnishings, he will begin telling how he started life without a dollar and look-at-him-now. He carefully explains how, 20 years ago, they were only paying rent on a small four-room house that was not modern and he was earning about $15 a week. You get the idea after he has been talking a while that he is absolutely self-made, having been equipped with a self-starter that never needed the batteries recharged.

Through it all Mrs. Spark sits quietly and beams on her husband. She isn't much to look at, in spite of her grown daughter's efforts to give her a little more "tone" at the price of comfort. You even find yourself wondering why a man who is such a whiz as Spark ever married a dull little person like Mrs. Spark. But Mrs. Spark is the secret of Mr. Spark's success.

When they were first married he had to give the minister who tied the knot a bushel of potatoes, since cash was so scarce, and that was a good potato year. She went right to work making him save a little of the few dollars he did earn and even did a few things on the quiet herself to make a little extra money. Her chickens and the cow she cared for and milked kept them all of one winter when Mr. Spark got a job only now and then, and she had a knack of making a dollar go farther on the family table than most women. She kept Spark looking so neat that he soon got a steady job where they wanted a man who had some regard for his personal appearance and were willing to pay a little extra for it. Mrs. Spark was the one who insisted they quit paying rent, even if they did have a mortgage hanging over them for a long time.

Like a lot of other men, Mr. Spark never had more than a dollar or two ahead of him until he happened to ask Mrs. Spark to come and keep house for him. But Mrs. Spark is just as happy as he is, letting him have the credit for being a self-made man. —Kansas City Star

Astronomical Fact.

Mars, although retreating rapidly away from us, still is a notable point of red light. His distance, which was something like 42,000,000 miles from the earth July 18, now has increased to 75,000,000, and will become 140,000,000 by the end of the year.

During the early months of 1923 Jupiter and Saturn will be conspicuous in the morning sky, and together with Venus, will delight early risers who love the glories of the stellar realm. There is no more fascinating study for old or young than astronomy, and the boys and girls should be encouraged to learn the "geography" of the sky as well as that of the planet on which they live.

Business Promoter.

The Woman was wondering where she would eat. She had a task to perform in a neighborhood new to her, and she had time now for a delayed meal. She looked about her, when suddenly she heard a raucous voice cry:

"Come in; come in." There in the window of a little restaurant was a parrot. It was too amusing to resist. And later when the restaurant was filled, the parrot was given a little meal and was covered partly with a shawl, so that he would know that it was night time and bed time for him.

But many had been the smiling one or couple who, like the Woman, had come in because of the parrot's urgent cry. —Chicago Journal

Centenary of Great Drought.

That the drought which prevailed during the summer in Pennsylvania and many other parts of the country was not the worst in history is shown by the following paragraph reprinted from the Miltonian of Milton of October 28, 1822: "The drought of the summer just passed is and will continue a memorable one in the eastern section of Pennsylvania. A gentleman from this place on a ride through York and Adams counties saw a mill dam on the Big Conewago creek so perfectly dry that 'all hands' were in it loading wagons and drawing the rich deposits in its bottom to the neighboring fields." —Philadelphia Record.

Near Top as Rail Center.

The bureau of railway economics has just prepared a list of cities having a large number of railroads entering from outside sections, says Rail Road Data. Terminals and electric railroads are not included, and the list is confined to cities having eight and more lines entering: Chicago, 33; St. Louis, 20; Kansas City, 14; Toledo, 14; New York, 12; Birmingham, 11; New Orleans, 11; Cincinnati, 11; Houston, Tex., 10; Fort Worth, Tex., 10; Memphis, Tenn., 10; Des Moines, 9; Detroit, 9; St. Paul, 9; Savannah, La., 8; Atlanta, Ga., 8; Denver, 8.

Modesty.

You are young, my son, and, as the years go by, time will change and even reverse many of your present opinions. Refrain therefore while from setting yourself up as a judge of the highest matters. —Plato.

Found It Necessary to Have a Number of Conferences.

found in the files of the court house, but no decree.

The next day she called on Montgomery and explained matters. She just must have a divorce decree in order to get that pension.

Montgomery was affability itself. Certainly Mrs. Shipman should have a divorce. A new petition was prepared and filed in the court. Last week the decree was entered and the two became legally separated.

While attending to the divorce matter Montgomery and Mrs. Shipman found it necessary to have a number of conferences. They raked up "old time" affairs and in the telling of old stories of each other they revived their interest in one another. Now they plan to remarry.

Hearse His Ambulance.

Sunbury, Pa.—Asserting that it was better to go to a hospital in a hearse than leave in one, George Bowersox of Mount Pleasant Mills, 14 miles west of here, agreed to be rushed to the Mary M. Packer hospital here the other day in this creepy kind of an ambulance for an operation. Doctors say he will recover. There was no other conveyance at hand and speed was necessary.

Pecking of the Seabirds.

That remarkable fish, the sea bream, has been growing scarcer in the north ranges of the Atlantic coast waters. The gradual extinction of this picturesque animal is believed to be due to the heavy fuel oils used in vessels.

SAVES SUICIDE, SUES HIM FOR IT

Man Who Is Cut Down by Farmer Now Demands Damages for Broken Leg.

VENUE.—The courts of Graz in the Austrian province of Styria have just had to deal with a most extraordinary lawsuit. A farmer, who went to inspect his field one morning, found a man who had just hanged himself on a tree above a ditch. He drew his knife and cut the rope. The would-be suicide fell into the ditch and soon recovered consciousness. In falling he had broken a leg and had to be taken to a hospital. He left the hospital after a few weeks, but had hardly regained his liberty when he went to court and sued the farmer who had saved his life for the restitution of the hospital expenses, as, he stated, it was by an unexpected interference of the farmer that his leg was broken.

Cut the Rope

The first court decided the case in favor of the prosecutor because it was proven that the farmer had caused the man to cut the rope. But the Superior court quashed the first sentence and acquitted the farmer.

Announcing his decision the presiding judge said that the prosecutor was under no obligation of gratitude as the farmer had merely done him a service by rescuing him from the wretched existence which is the lot of so many Austrian peasants. But from the point of view of a citizen the farmer had acted correctly. It was his duty as a Christian to free the man from the rope. If the peasant had done it in a negligent way he would be responsible for the injury. But such negligence was not proved. It was an impossibility for the peasant to climb into the tree to cut the rope and stand underneath to catch the man at the same time. The prosecutor can, therefore, not claim any damages.

Those Beneficial Blues

Here's a doctor saying a good word for the blues. As a means of calming excitable temperaments and highly strung nerves an occasional gloomy outlook on life he says, is distinctly beneficial. And of course we all know how profitable it is for dentists to feel down in the mouth—Boston Evening Transcript.

'Hard Lines.

"Unfair, I say," remarked the glove counter girl with the red hair. "What is unfair?" "The way they treated that ship that just landed from England." "What did they do to it?" "It had been only four days crossing the Atlantic, hadn't laid off an hour, had run every minute—"

"Yes?" "And still, when it got here, they docked it."

Nothing makes a farmer so tormented mad as to be referred to as an agriculturist. His disgust is equalled only by that of a newspaper man who is dubbed a journalist.

When a man grows weary of this said world he can walk down a dark street, satchel in hand and pretend he is a paymaster.

The Silver Lining.

"I sentence you to die in the electric chair," pronounced the court. "Well," soliloquized the prisoner, as he was being led back to his cell, "that ain't so worse. The doctor told me electricity would be a fine thing for my soul."

"What would you suggest for our literary club to read," asked Mrs. Plubud. "A good cook book," responded the brutal husband.

The Meanest Man.

The meanest man on record is said to live in Shrewsbury, Mass. He sold his son-in-law one-half of a cow and then refused to divide the milk, maintaining that he sold only the front half. The buyer was also requested to feed the cow and carry water to her three times a day. Recently the cow hooked the old man and now he is suing his son-in-law for damages.

If some birds creaked in a clear store they would smoke a better brand of cigars than they do now.

Why Men Are Wild.

Strictly Private.—"From my observation of him just night I should say that that young man of yours was rather wild."

Daughter.—"Of course it was your watching him that made him wild. He wanted you to go upstairs and leave us alone."

"I sleep like a log." "Yes, with a saw going through you."

"The Kid's Crier."

"Paw" began little Lester Livermore, who is of unusual width between the eyes. "If a man 50 years old marries a girl of 17, and his son, age 25, marries the girl's mother, doesn't that make the old man the son-in-law of his own son and the father-in-law of himself?" And—say, Paw, can I go to the picture show tonight if I won't ask any more questions?"

"Yes," yelled Mr. Livermore.

What could be more appropriate than a beautiful new Hupmobile Sedan—the car that everyone admires, because of its fine comfort, brilliant performance, its wonderful reliability, its low cost of operation and upkeep, and its remarkably reasonable price.

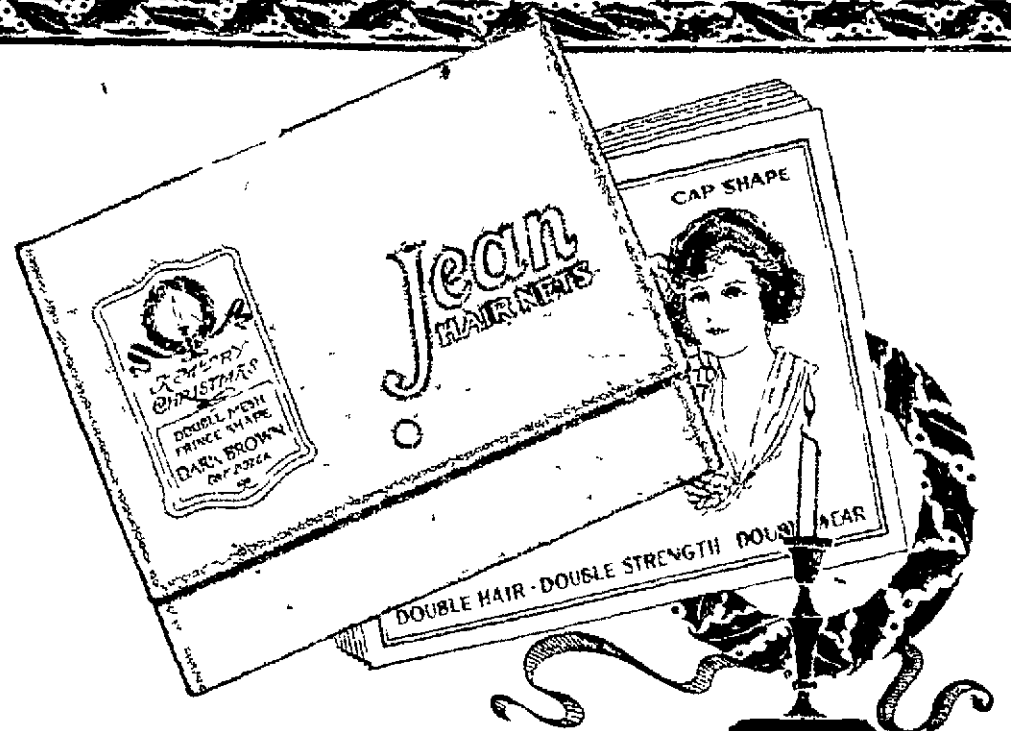

The comparative absence of the Hupmobile from the used car columns will give you some idea of its high value when you resell it; and its present low price will convince you that it is one of the world's greatest motor car values when you buy it.

PREST LANDS IN HERD OF CARIBOU

Aviator is Forced by Engine Trouble to Descend to Earth in Far North.

KILLS ONE FOR FOOD

Set Up Movie Camera to Get Picture of Wild Herd, but Changed Mind When Hundreds of Animals Move in Sight.

Dawson, Y. T.—Like a chapter from dramatic fiction reads the story of the experience of Clarence O. Prest, the aviator, while trying a flight across Yukon territory and Alaska. He flew with his moving-picture camera above a great herd of caribou and was forced to land in their midst. He slaughtered one to keep from starving. The herd is part of the great body of caribou which annually trek across the region near Dawson and Eagle. Prest had flown by a round-about way from San Bernardino, Cal., to the Far North.

Lands in Herd of Caribou.

Prest's own story of his experience is told in the following dispatch from Eagle to the Dawson Daily News:

"Thirty minutes out of Eagle my engine bucked. I looked for a landing place and picked what looked like a level spot. It was Niggerhead Flat at the head of Deer creek, eight miles south of Seventy-Mile river. I fixed the engine and noticed a couple of caribou. I set up my movie camera so as to get them. More of them were coming, so I began to see about taking off. Turning, I noticed 500 or 600 caribou all around the airship and camera, and rushed expecting to find the camera ruined, but no damage was done. I got ready to take off but the ship went upon her nose in the soft going and broke the propeller.

Killed a Caribou.

"I had been debating about killing one of the caribou, but the debate ended when the propeller broke, so I killed one with my 32-caliber pistol and butchered him with a pocket knife.

"I was overhauling the motor when a puff of wind finished the job by turning the ship over on her back and breaking the radiator. So I deserted the ship, stripped off the instruments and magneto, and started to pack down to the river. I got down with one load and saw I was not going to make it with the grub I had, so I cached everything and went back to the ship and slept in its tail Sunday night.

"I had left my compass in a cache at the mouth of Ramey creek, so I started without it. I was further out than I thought. I did not pick up the trail and made a lot of unnecessary circles, climbing mountains for observation. It was raining steadily, but I had equipped myself with a small can of gasoline for starting fires.

"My shoes and feet were giving out and I was afraid to lie down to sleep. Finally, I struck the trail at Nimrod Bar, and shortly after a search party have in sight."

Colored Man Falls Dead in Crap Game.
Raeford, N. C.—Spurred by the dice when he "shot it all" at the end of a crap game, Jim Suggs, colored, fell dead as the dice betrayed him. The game lasted all night and the decision to "shoot it all" was made when the players were departing.

Sun's Rays Ignite Oil Causing Volcanic Blaze

Atlantic City, N. J.—The sun's rays are charged with lightning fuel oil caked about the pipes on a jerry at Tennessee avenue and causing a blaze that took three-quarters of an hour to extinguish. The blaze seemed to come from underneath and rose seven or eight feet in the air like a submarine volcano in action.

MOTHER OF "CELLAR GIRL" HELD TO JURY

Amazing Story Is Told of How Mother Beat and Mistreated Her Daughter.

Chicago.—An amazing story of cruelty by a mother was recited by several witnesses before Judge Theodore F. Ehler in the case of Mary Dywan, nineteen-year-old girl, recently rescued after living in rags in the basement of her mother's home, 8549 Burnham avenue, for two years. As a result of the testimony, Mrs. Mary Dywan, the mother, was held to the grand jury on a charge of cruelty. On four other charges of assault with a deadly weapon and disorderly conduct she demanded a jury trial. Evidence was brought out by Assistant State's Attorney Clarence E. Nelson showing that the girl, who was brought here from Austria two years ago, had been repeatedly beaten with a carpet beater, made to do all the housework, and forced to go barefooted into the snow last winter to chop wood.

Forced to Go Barefooted in the Snow.

Neighbors testified they had seen the girl struck and kicked by her mother, and generally cruelly treated. Mary, who is only 4 feet 6 inches, took the stand and told her story through an interpreter. She speaks no English.

Mary said all her time here she was forced to live in the basement, sleeping on an iron bed and with no fire in the winter. She performed all the housework, despite the fact there are four other children in the house. She was never permitted to eat with the rest of the family, she said. When Mary was rescued by Policewoman Florence Van Amber she wore only a dress and a house apron.

HOME BREW WRECKS SEWER

Contraband Wine, Beer, Bran and Mash Poured into Manhole Let Go With Serious Results.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.—Inhabitants of Jamestown consider home brew an infants' drink unless it will remove the enamel from the kitchen sink. It is said, but that test is too mild for Poughkeepsie hooch hounds. It must be of sufficient strength to wreck a sewer system, a lumber yard and a river front before they can get any kick, according to Cyrus Winkles, who knows what good hooch is.

When a manhole blew up, throwing the cover many feet into the air and toppling over lumber piles and smashing windows by the concussion of the report, it was remembered that Sheriff Everett P. Davies had poured considerable contraband wine, beer, bran and mash down that hole.

Engine Mows Down Workers at Depot.

Kearny, N. J.—A locomotive of the Jersey Central railroad ploughed through a crowd of several hundred workmen at the Aspen station, near here, killing one man and injuring eight others, two of whom may die. The men alighted from one train and were crossing the next tracks when the engine ran them down. A dense fog obstructed a view of the approaching engine.

Siamese Debtors Must Work.

In Siam the law allows a debtor a clear three months. Then, if he fails to pay up, the creditor can apply to the court for an order to seize him, when he is compelled to work without pay until he has worked out his indebtedness.

TWO LEAGUES OF ST. MARY'S BOYS

White Stars Beat Eagles in School Boy League and New Borgman Is Uncovered in Junior Organization.

Thursday at St. Mary's court, the school boys played the fourth game of their championship series. The feature game was played between White Stars and Eagles, the former emerging victors by one point. The game was always in doubt until the referee's whistle sounded the end of the game. The Lions proved the surprise of the series by defeating the strong Tigers decisively, 11-2. Leonard of the Lions was a tower of strength for his team, featuring from the foul line. Dave Long as usual was the big boy for the White Stars.

School Boys' League results:

The St. Mary's Junior Holy Name League got off to a flying start in their basketball games Thursday night on St. Mary's court. In the first game the Dauntless Five bowed submissively to the Tipperary Five by the score 19-13. The Emeralds outclassed the Celtics 47-14. Jack Cashin of the Emeralds looked like Benny Borgman of the Kingston State League team when he caged ten fields and one foul. In the final game the Pirates staged an interesting battle with the Dutch Five, coming out on top with four points in the last few minutes of play.

Results:
Dauntless Five—13. Schaefer, captain; Gilday, Glennon, Cassidy, J. Boyle. Tipperary Five—19. D. Murphy, captain; Leehive, Bradley, C. Murphy, J. Hutton.

Reverse Expressions.

"Two or three" always means at least three, or three and upwards. "One or two" seldom means one. "In a minute" means anywhere from five to 60 minutes. "That reminds me of a story" means "Now you keep quiet while I tell my joke." "I hold no brief for" means "I am now going to defend." "While I do not wish to appear critical" means "But I am going to have my say out anyhow." "Of course it's no business of mine" means "I am simply devoured with curiosity." "My conduct calls for no apology and needs no explanation" is the usual introduction for an apology or an explanation. "No one could possibly have mistaken my meaning" is what we say when some one has mistaken it—independent.

Chrysanthemum Centuries Ago.

Six centuries before Christ the chrysanthemum gave Confucius the subject for a rhapsody; when describing the beauties of autumn, he drew attention to "its shining glory, its delicate petals hanging from around the center in sheaves of golden threads, and its tassels on which the light of the sun has been filtered ten thousand times." A thousand years after Confucius' Tao Ming Yang, gardener and writer, sang of the flower in such accents of genius that the name of his native town was changed to that of Town-of-the-Chrysanthemum (Chun-Hsien, the Chun-San of today). The flower, native of China and Japan, was destined to a glorious career in both Europe and America.

Fell Ten Stories but Finally Caught Elevator

Manuel Hernandez, laborer, of Dallas, Tex., fell ten stories down an elevator shaft, landed in a wheelbarrow of mortar, and stepped out unhurt.

Through a misunderstanding of signals, the elevator on the thirteenth floor, where Hernandez was working, was lowered unknown to him, and when he stepped for it down he went. He caught up with the elevator at the third floor, landing in the soft mortar. After scraping off some of the mortar he continued on the job.

LADY PIRATE CHIEF, BEAUTY, BETRAYED

Winsome Widow Who Has Terrorized Countryside Is Captured by Treachery.

Canton.—Mrs. Lo Hon-cho, China's woman pirate chief who for years has been terrorizing and robbing the countryside in the vicinity of Pakhol, is reported to have been captured.

When her pirate husband was killed while fighting in 1921, Mrs. Lo Hon-cho took command of his pirate crew and became so prosperous that her force soon grew to 60 ocean pirate

The Most Ruthless of All.

Junks. Youthful and reported to be pretty, she soon gained a reputation as being the most ruthless of all China's assorted bandits and pirates.

Mrs. Lo Hon-cho's pirate fleet preyed on villages, fishing fleets and farmers' herds. In their attacks on villages the pirates usually took from 40 to 60 girls as prisoners, later selling them into slavery. In a recent raid on a village, she captured 50 women and girls.

Returning with her captives and other loot, she stopped at a coast village where the inhabitants had ready a feast of roast pigs, cake and rice to placate the pirates. While they were feasting a Chinese warship appeared and the pirates hastily set sail. The warship destroyed 40 of the pirate junks, killing their pirate crews. Others, including Mrs. Lo Hon-cho, made their escape. The defeat weakened the pirates' morale, however, and the redoubtable young woman was betrayed by her followers in return for a promise of clemency from the military commander at Pakhol.

SINGS TO HIS WIFE'S IMAGE

Man Makes Life-Size Dummy of Mate Who Left Him, and Daily Tells of Love.

Boston.—A woman with painted cheeks and glassy stare sits beside Louis Vitale, a shoemaker, as he works in his small shop here.

Seven years ago Vitale's wife left him. He made a life-sized dummy and placed it with him in his shop—the image, in his belief, of his missing wife.

And to this dummy Louis daily sings his songs of love and hope. When he wishes his Carrie to raise her arms toward him, as if inviting an embrace, he presses a floor pedal and the body half turns, the arms moving upward to a level with his shoulder. The image will go when Carrie returns, says the shoemaker, for he is confident that she will come back.

Clever Escape From Prison.

Hanburg.—Four inmates of the Fuhlsprung state prison effected an ingenious escape when the leader of the group stole a warden's coat and cap. He marched his three fellow prisoners in lockstep through the gates and passed out unnoticed, other guards taking it for granted that a working party was being taken out for duty.

Mankind Never Satisfied.

You may as soon fill a bag with wisdom, a chest with virtue, or a circle with a triangle, as the heart of a man with anything here below. A man may have enough of the world to sink him, but he can never have enough to satisfy him.—T. Brooks.

Your Government To Cost You Less

With the help of the Budget Bureau, with the cooperation of Congress, with the aid of continual prodding from the White House, the United States Government seems at last to be in a happy way financially. When the newspaper editors read the message President Harding submitted to Congress along with the budget for the next fiscal year, even the Democrats promptly sat down and wrote cheerful, happy, and congratulatory editorials. For they learned that this prodigal Government of ours has in three years cut down its expenditures from a six-billion-dollar to a three-billion-dollar basis; that it is going to spend half a billion dollars less in the next fiscal year than in the present; that the expected $600,000,000 deficit for 1923 has already been cut down by half and, since it is only December, may very well be wiped out altogether by the end of the year on June 30; and finally, that the official Budget Bureau estimates for the fiscal year ending in 1924, indicate a substantial surplus of $180,969,125.

You will read in THE LITERARY DIGEST this week, December 16th, how the reduction in government expenses has been effected, what activities have been curtailed, and what the probable effects upon the tax-payer may be. Other instructive news-articles in this week's issue of THE DIGEST are:

The KITCHEN CABINET

Life is not first lived and then understood; it is properly lived till understood; when well understood, life begins a new career of achievement and worth.—Rev. George Gordon.

CHAPTER ON SOUPS

For the beginning of a dinner or a luncheon or even a supper dish on a cool, crisp night, there is nothing that quite touches the spot as a good seasoned soup. If one objects to meat soups, there are the vegetable soups; if neither suits, there is still fruit.

Cherry Soup.—Take one quart of fresh or a pint of canned cherries, one quart of water; cook and strain. Return to the fire; add sugar and whole cinnamon and whole cloves to taste; thicken with two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch, stirred smooth in a little cold water. Serve hot with croutons or with dumplings prepared of choux paste and cooked in the soup.

Philadelphia Fruit Soup.—Take one cupful each of dried apples, pears and raisins. Cover with warm water and soak for an hour, then add two cupfuls of cranberries which have been cooked until tender and pressed through a sieve. Cover with two quarts of cold water, boil for an hour, sweeten to taste, press through a sieve and thicken with two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch rubbed smooth with a little cold water. Cook until the cornstarch is well-cooked; serve either cold or hot.

Velvet Soup.—Cook one-half cupful of tripe in six cupfuls of well-seasoned veal stock. Beat the yolks of three eggs and pour in the soup; stir until smooth and creamy; season with salt, pepper and grated nutmeg. Serve hot with croutons.

Brown Onion Soup.—Peel a dozen brown onions and fry until brown in butter, add two teaspoonfuls of sugar. When brown add four cupfuls of beef stock, bring to the boiling point and serve very hot.

Scotch Purée.—Put into a little one-pound of mutton with the broken bones. Cover with three quarts of water and bring to the boiling point. Skin and simmer for one hour. Add six potatoes, two onions, one carrot cut in half and simmer two hours longer. Season with salt, pepper and butter; simmer 30 minutes, strain through coarse sieve, reheat and serve with croutons.

THE XMAS DAYS

The days were much excited. "Oh," said Monday, "I can hardly wait. It will be my turn this year. Of course I had a good time of it last year. But this year the day is really and truly my day."

"I have been waiting for this for quite a few years now."

And that was very true. For Father Week's children, the Days, were talking of the times they each had in the joy of being Xmas.

"I remember," said Tuesday, "that one year I had an especially interesting time. For some time I had seen two little girls giving their dolls Xmas presents."

"One little girl's name was Alice and she made the little friend's doll a small knitted skirt and a cap and a long petticoat and long dress. For the friend's doll was a baby doll still in long clothes."

"The friend's name was Margaret. Well, I had not noticed, especially for a number of times, and there was a good long time between each occasion when I appeared for Xmas—whether Alice and Margaret still gave each other presents. For I had heard them say when they were rather grownup that they were going to give each other presents instead of to their dolls."

"I wondered if they still kept it up. And the last time I appeared I made a point of seeing."

"And sure enough, Alice had given Margaret—quite a grownup lady—a lovely little dish with a narcissus bulb in it for her to watch and grow, and Margaret had given Alice a little paper cutter and a chocolate Santa Claus."

"It rejoiced my heart to see them still keeping up the happy Xmas spirit."

"I remember," said Wednesday, "of the last Xmas I was doing duty. Oh, what a day it was. There was a gorgeous sunrise in the morning."

"Now when I speak of the beauties of the day, everyone knows I am not connected, for it was Old Weather Boy and King Snow and Mr. Sun, and all the other friends who made it so beautiful a day."

"In the afternoon before the sun went down there was a gloriously rich golden amber glow over the snow, and in the very air it seemed."

"Oh, such a gorgeous light as it was, so rich and perfect. And then came a beautiful sunset, and in the evening the stars came out and the Diamond

"All in Readiness."

Brothers, the Sky's own Jewellers, you know, and there was the greatest Snow Sparkling Festival there had ever been.

"Some people had a tree out in their yard and on it were red and green and yellow and blue lights, and on top a star was lighted up, too."

"Well, King Snow was anxious to see what was going on. Now, as he came looking about him the lovely robe that he wears dropped some fragments and pieces about, and these flakes of snow fell on the tree."

"How lovely they did make it!"

"And everywhere King Snow did the same so that just a little snow was scattered here and there on everything. Such a perfect Xmas as it was!"

"Last year," said Saturday, "it got cold just before Xmas. I remember that it blew up cold and everyone was so pleased."

"And it blew up cold just in time, too."

"Well," said Monday, "I must be all in readiness. Sunday will be coming back now."

"Oh," said the other days, "what fun it will be to hear what Sunday has to tell us, for Sunday has been Xmas Eve this year."

"And when you both get back and start talking of all you have seen and heard what a time we will have."

"And you mustn't do all your talking before I get back," said Tuesday. "We must all hear the Xmas news."

"Oh yes," said Monday, "we will tell you all every bit of Xmas news—but I must be off now. And oh, what joy it will be to be the day again upon which everyone says:"

"Merrie Xmas!"

Method.

"It is not raining, little boy," said the old gentleman; "why do you carry that umbrella? You don't think it's raining, do you?"

"No, sir!"

"And the sun's not shining."

"No, sir!"

"Then why do you carry it?"

"Well, sir, when it's raining my father carries it."

H-Y BASKETBALL LEAGUE STARTED

The H-Y basketball league has been started, and this week two games were played, one between Mac Fadden's "Arrows" and Capt. Dedrick's team, and the other between Fred Anderson's Eagles and Capt. Rose's team. Neither Dedrick nor Rose have selected a name for their team, and for that reason they are still known by the names of their captains. The "Arrows" and Rose's team were the winners this week. This is the last game that will be played this year, the next being the first Wednesday in January. Mr. Miller has charge of the promotion and playing. Scores for the two games:

"Charles Robert Craddock."

Miss Mary Neallies Murdock, who died of seventy-two, was better known to the reading public by her pen name of Charles Robert Craddock. A cripple from childhood, she sought to repair the family fortunes, impaired by the Civil war, through writing tales of her own region of the Cumberland; and for more than a generation she was eminently successful. The collection of her short stories, published in 1909, under the title "In the Tennessee Mountains," was enough to make her name lasting. She continued to write, publishing novels until 1914. All were out in the stories with which she was familiar, the land in which her great-grandfather, Murdock, settled early in the nineteenth century. Miss Murdock was one of the daily important regional novellists of America.—New York Herald.

Bandits Clip Buttons From Victim's Trousers

Two bandits subjected Arthur Koenigsberger of Chicago to unusual punishment when they walked into his garage and asked to see an automobile he had advertised for sale. They held him up, taking a diamond ring valued at $1,000.

As they departed the thieves clipped the suspender buttons from Mr. Koenigsberger's trousers and he was helpless to pursue.

Mystery of the Moon.

French scientists expect to be able to demonstrate, by means of photographs, whether or not there is life on the moon and other planets. Their hopes of doing this have been brightened by the invention of a telescopic eye camera by Charles Durrans, author and scientist. M. Durrans, explaining his invention, said: "The principle of the apparatus is that of projecting an intense electric magnifying camera lens in such a manner that we can see objects millions of miles from the exposed plate. The focusing is the most difficult problem, but undoubtedly we shall soon be able to furnish photographic proof whether or not there is planetary life."

FACES POVERTY FOR GIRL

Son of Wealthy Frenchman Leaves Home of Luxury for Love of Fair American.

New York.—Love of an American girl and a desire to support her with money earned by himself has brought Jean Dutry, twenty-five years old, son of the wealthy Gen. Henri Dutry, of the French army, to America almost penniless and willing to start life anew as a bootblack if he can get no other work.

Cared for by his wealthy parents, with large estates in France, race horses, jewels, friends, servants to wait upon him, and all the luxuries and frivolities that wealth affords, Dutry was happy. Then he met an American girl touring France. They fell in love.

He took ship for America, arriving in New York City with a few dollars. Two days he stayed at a big hotel, but his money gave out. Who the girl is behind Dutry's trip he will not say.

Indian Lodge Tales

By Ford C. Frick

THE FIRST WINTER

IN THE days of the long ago the world was a world of summer. The Manitou, father of us all, lived in the heavens and smiled down upon his children of the earth; and the world was a world of sunshine; and birds sang the year through, the fruit grew on the trees; and fishes filled the streams and everywhere was happiness and prosperity.

In those days there were no wars and no pestilence; no hatred and no envy. But everywhere the redmen ruled in joy, and hunted and fished as they pleased—and there was no work to be done and no fields to be cultivated and no meat to be dried. For in those days the corn ripened throughout the year, and buffalo were plentiful at all times, and fresh meat could be had for the asking.

But by and by evil spirits came among the people, and they told tales of wickedness. They laughed at the Manitou and defied his power and they called him "Old Woman" and laughed at his kindness. These evil spirits influenced the Indians, and the Indians, too, made fun of the Manitou, and they defied him to punish them and declared that he had lost his power and that they no longer need worship him.

At length the Manitou became angry and sorry; and he called a council of the chiefs and told them that his heart was sore, and asked that they once more accept his rule and give him their worship. But they only laughed and so the Manitou declared that he would remove the sun from the heavens as mark of his power.

By and by the sun began slowly to change its route, and each day it became less and less in the heavens, and the tribesmen were much afraid. Cold winds swept the earth, and snow fell and the leaves on the trees died and fell to the ground, and the streams were covered with ice so that it was impossible to fish. The buffalo disappeared and the rabbits and the bears were unable to come out on account of the great snow.

Among the Indians sickness prevailed, and many died and great sorrow was upon the land, until finally two old chiefs went out into the snow and climbed many miles to the top of a great mountain and there they prayed the Manitou that he should give them aid, and make his face to shine once more upon the world.

The Manitou heard their prayer and was moved, and slowly he sent the sun back upon its course, and once more the grass was green, and the streams sang, and the birds returned to their homes. And the Indians who were sick and starved and hungry regained their strength in their health—and the world was happy once more in the warmth of the sun, which is the face of the Manitou.

But when the summer time had come, then the Manitou appeared to the tribesmen and held council with them, and he said to them:

"You have doubted my power. You have scoffed my kindness. And so have I punished you. From this time forth, each year, will I withdraw my face for a period; and the land will become a land of ice and snow, and the streams will be covered with ice, and the lodge of the red man shall be a lodge of desolation.

"So must you prepare yourselves and work and labor that during the long period of winter your lodges shall be full of food and your fires shall have plenty of fuel."

When he had said this the Manitou disappeared in a cloud. And from that time on the winter has come each year, with its cold and its desolation. Each year the tribesmen know that it is a warning to them of the power of the Manitou. And so during the winter months they build their fires and hold their councils and pray to the Manitou that he may look with favor upon them when the springtime comes again.

No.—It is interesting to note that this legend exists in varying forms among a score or more of tribes throughout the country. The writer had it from the Arapahoes. It exists among the Iroquois, likewise, and among the Illini, the Cherokees and the Dakotas, to his personal knowledge. Probably many other tribes also number it among the legends.

Had Him Won Over.

The southern Californian may think himself an adept making seductive pictures of his end of the state, but he can still learn from the Honolulu. Out in the north Pacific. Down there they say a drummer from San Francisco sojourned a month, and when they took him to the homebound steamer and put "leis" around his neck and sang "Aloha O!" to him a few times, he cried like a baby and said he had forgotten his wife's first name.

Forfeited.

Mr. Peewee—A fortune teller once told me I was born to command. His wife—Don't you dare to spend another dollar on such nonsense. You were born for me to command.

Keen Sense of Smell.

J. L. writes that while he was riding on an East Boston tunnel car a little boy in the seat in front of him said to his mother "Oh, mamma, I know we are under the water now, for I can smell the fish."—Boston Evening Transcript.

"Grandfather" at Eighteen.

A marriage which took place at Venlo, Holland, gave the bridegroom the distinction of being a grandfather before he had come of age. The groom is eighteen and his bride forty-five. She was a widow with several children, one of whom was married a year ago and has a child, which makes the groom a grandfather. The eldest son is twenty-two, so that the groom becomes "father" of a man four years older than himself.

XMAS FOR 26,000 DISABLED VETS

Director Forbes Striving to Present All With Checks in Full Settlement of Claims—Few Able to Leave Hospitals.

By Telegram to The Pressman.
Washington, Dec. 15.—To the 26,000 maimed and wounded veterans of the World War still in government hospitals, Uncle Sam this year will play Santa Claus, spreading good cheer and gladness.

This message was broadcast today by Charles R. Forbes, director of the Veterans' Bureau, to the 50 federal hospitals throughout the land. The government's gift to these wards, Forbes announced today, will be checks and compensation in full settlement of outstanding claims and adjustments. In order that there be no disappointments Forbes has ordered the bureau force to work night and day if necessary, between now and Christmas, to conclude the settlements.

It has long been the wish of the bureau to adjust all claims for the disabled. But the tedious necessity of thorough investigation of each individual claim—and oftentimes burdensome red tape—has delayed settlement in numerous instances. The result, in many cases, has caused untold hardships; has aggravated the anxiety and the anguish of the men who lost a leg or an arm, or were stricken with some enduring, ravaging disease.

The crying appeal to the bureau has been for settlement of claims. Without funds the veterans have waited patiently in the hospitals, hung thickly with gloom.

With claims settled, many will be able to return, though perhaps permanently maimed and disabled, veritable caricatures of their former selves, to home and rest.

Such is the hope of Director Forbes. But the number who can be released at this time after claims are adjusted, it was declared, is comparatively negligible. Thousands, he said, suffering from tuberculosis, shell shock, must pass Christmas in hospitals.

For these Forbes has planned an old-fashioned Christmas, with a royal feast, gifts, messages of good cheer, and, quite above all, glittering Christmas trees. This work will be entrusted to sectional divisions of the bureau and to such organizations as the American Red Cross.

The National Emblem.

About the finest appreciation of the life of the bald eagle, the national emblem, is that which was expressed incidentally, by John Burroughs, in one of his nature essays: "He draws great lines across the sky, he sees the forest like a carpet beneath him, he sees the hills and the valleys as he folds and wrinkles in a many-colored tapestry; he sees the river as a silver belt connecting remote horizons. We climb mountain peaks to get a glimpse of the spectacle that is hourly spread out beneath him. Dignity, elevation, repose, are his. I would have my thoughts take as wide a sweep. I would be as far removed from the petty cares and turmoils of this noisy and blustering world."—From the Review of Reviews.

Fishing With Pick and Shovel.

Did you ever hear of the lung-fish which breathes only air and buries itself for months until the earth is dry and sandy overhead? This fish is dug with a pick and shovel in places where there has been no water for 18 months and whose location is known by a small hole the fish leaves to breathe through. They grow up to three feet long and store fat on their tails for keeping them through the long dry seasons. There is a certain cat that does likewise. These two are in the Chaco country, a district of 250,000 square miles on the borders of Bolivia, Paraguay and Argentina.—Adventure Magazine.

Fierce.

One was the pick of the school. In fact, every one from the professors down picked on him. One afternoon he stayed to make up some chemistry work. Laboriously he worked, between interruptions—they were many, for on each of the boys passed, he bestowed a friendly, forcible slap on the shoulder or made some remark. One stood it for awhile. The climax came when someone, in passing, twined his arm. "Hey," he said fiercely, "there's only two tough guys in this town and I'm both of them." He turned to find himself face to face with his instructor.—Indianapolis News.

K.H.S. BASKETBALL STARTS TONIGHT

Tonight the basketball team of Kingston high school will open its season, meeting the quintet from Ellenville high. Practice this week has showed that the locals are in good form, the first five holding the seconds to a very small score each night, while they themselves ran up big ones. However, it can well be expected that there will be some lively opposition tonight, for Ellenville has the reputation of being a fast team. Last year, in the last few minutes of play, they overcame a large lead that Kingston had held over them all through the game, tying the score and making it necessary to play an extra five minutes, during which Ellenville edged their way ahead, making the final score 20-29. The visiting team have already won several games this season.

The game will start at 8.30 sharp. There will be dancing after the game for members of the school and alumni.
